Resource Section Themes

In each Resource Section, the resources are grouped according to theme, in the following order:

Theme	Subjects covered
General	General (morning and evening)
Father, Son and Spirit	Trinity, approach to worship
God in creation	Harvest, creation
Christ's coming	Advent
Incarnation	Christmas, Epiphany, light
Cross	Holy Week, Lent
Resurrection	Easter
Ascension	Ascension, kingship
Holy Spirit	Pentecost
Word	Word
Church and mission	Mission, ministry, unity
Christian beginnings	Baptism and Confirmation
Lament	Lent, frustration/pain/anger
Relationships and healing	Reconciliation, family, love
Living in the world	Society, city
Holy Communion	Holy Communion
Heaven	Saints, death, glory

A Gathering and Greeting

Stories from the four churches

While the large and lively mixed-age congregation arrive for worship, the St Ann's music group plays a selection of thematic hymns and choruses in order to focus people's attention on worship and set the initial mood of the service.

The congregation join in the singing; the song numbers have been printed on the service sheet. The music stops three or four minutes before the ministers enter and take their places. The congregation become quiet, attentive and prayerful – a sense of expectancy is in the air. The minister rises to call the people to worship with the greeting:

God is spirit.

Let us worship him in spirit and truth.

Then, after the opening hymn of praise, the congregation sit for an imaginative presentation of the notices, done by two people in a 'sharing the news' style. This is regarded as part of the worship, both giving a sense of belonging and bringing all the church's activities into the presence of God. The notices end with a reminder of today's learning themes (for adults, children and young people), some silence and the opening collect.

Other options which St Ann's has used for Gathering and Greeting include:

- * the giving of the Peace;
- * a solo song or hymn;
- * some verses from a psalm, sung as an introit by the choir at the back of the church;
- * a spoken verse of a song or hymn.

At St Bartholomew's the organist quietly plays a simple voluntary based on a seasonal hymn melody on the small village organ while the congregation arrive for worship. The minister has hurried from another village and makes his way to the vestry in order to robe and have a few moments of prayer before the service begins. The churchwarden has taken care to ensure that everything is prepared for worship before the minister arrives and she announces the opening hymn. As the congregation sing, the minister makes his way to his place from the back of the church. At the end of the hymn, he greets the congregation with a seasonal greeting and invites them to join with him in some moments of silence before saying a prayer of preparation for worship.

At St Christopher's good quality taped music is relayed gently through the amplification system as the multi-cultural, mixed-age congregation take their seats. The choir is already seated five minutes before the service is advertised to begin. When the taped music ceases, the churchwarden gives out some notices, announces the opening song of praise and invites people to keep a time of silence before the organ plays the first line. As the lights are turned full on, a well-ordered procession of crucifer, acolytes and two ministers enters the church, the deacon holding aloft the Book of the Gospels. As soon as the song is finished, the president welcomes the people with a responsive greeting, announces the theme of the service and invites the people to make their confession.

It is Pentecost at St Dodo's and the clergy and choir are hurrying to prepare for worship as the congregation arrive. The organist starts to play a difficult voluntary with some unexpected stops and starts five minutes before the service is advertised to begin. Four minutes after the service should have begun the minister appears at the front of the church, nods at the organist to stop playing, welcomes everyone and realizes that the amplification system is not working. High-pitched feedback jolts everyone awake as the amplification comes to life. No one can hear the announcement of the number of the opening processional hymn. Choir and clergy process slowly in a ragged crocodile to their seats. The minister turns and greets the people again – this time with a liturgical greeting. He then tells everyone to be seated and announces the notices for the week at some length, before inviting the congregation to join him in a prayer of preparation for worship.

Greetings and their meanings

The opening greeting establishes a relationship between the minister and the rest of the congregation. In choosing what to include, the minister will consider the options (including a formal welcome, perhaps followed by more informal comments, a prayer, an acclamation of praise, or a call to worship) and try to use a greeting that is right for the context, and to remember that greetings convey unspoken messages:

- * 'Hello!' ('Good morning', 'Welcome, everyone', etc.) is a reflection of shared human ordinariness that links worship with the rest of life.
- * 'The Lord be with you – and also with you' speaks of mutual prayer for one another and an expectation of God's presence.
- * A sentence of Scripture as the first utterance puts the emphasis firmly on God, but doesn't establish a relationship between worshippers.
- * 'I couldn't hear you singing' establishes a (probably unhealthy) relationship of power.

Commentary

The service should have a clear beginning. The liturgical greeting may follow some introductory singing, or a hymn or a sentence of Scripture, and may be followed by a brief introduction or an opening prayer.

Note 1, A Service of the Word

Each church has its own way of making clear that the service is about to start, whether by the entrance of a procession, the start of the first hymn, or the turning on of the overhead projector. Whatever you do, make it clear. There is nothing wrong with some silence before a service, or some music or worship songs to help people prepare themselves, but everyone needs to know when we have stopped being a collection of individuals and are being summoned as a body of people to worship God together.

One of the functions of the opening stages of the service is to allow people consciously to bring to God all that is going on in the rest of their lives as they come to worship. The spoken texts can help that; so can silence. The sharing of the Peace might also be an appropriate part of the Gathering and Greeting. Care should also be taken to ensure that the form of greeting or opening prayer flows naturally into what is to follow. A greeting that works well if followed by a hymn of praise might not fit if penitence is to follow.

Notes to the resources

- 1 More examples of responses that may be suitable for use at the beginning of the service can be found in Resource Section G, 'Praise' (pages 223–233).
- 2 The resources provided below should be adapted as necessary if the Peace is to be included.
- 3 'Alleluia' may be added to many of the greetings, for example at Easter and Pentecost.

penitence

B Penitence

Stories from the four churches

At St Ann's the Reader invites the congregation to kneel or sit in order to make their confession. The Reader waits for the people to settle down before inviting them to call to mind their sins against God and against their neighbour. After a time of silence for reflection, a sentence of Scripture is read aloud, the people are invited to confess their sins and one of the twenty-two authorized forms of Confession is used (pages 81–90 below). The president prays for forgiveness using an authorized Absolution in the 'us' form.

The Confession at St Bartholomew's during Holy Communion is said after the Prayers of Intercession. The priest invites the people to sit or kneel and, after a pause, reads a seasonal sentence calling the people to repentance and to make their confession. A responsive song is used to give space for reflection and to set the mood before the Confession is said. As it is Lent, the responsive seasonal Confession, 'Lord Jesus Christ we confess we have failed you ...', is used, the priest first reminding the congregation of the response: Lord, forgive us: Christ have mercy. After the Confession, the priest pronounces the Absolution.

The congregation at St Christopher's remain standing for the Confession, which takes place immediately after the introduction to worship. The Prayers of Penitence are introduced with the Summary of the Law, followed by a Kyrie Confession, with appropriate insertions (see pages 91–94). At the Absolution, the sign of the cross is made by all, signalling their acceptance of God's forgiveness in Christ.

At St Dodo's it is the monthly 'Family Service' and the minister has decided to use the Confession at the top of page 129 in Common Worship. No indication is given as to whether the congregation should sit or kneel, so there is confusion as people look around to see what to do. After a pause while the minister finds the service sheet, the people are asked to find their sheets on which is printed the Confession. The minister invites the congregation to be quiet and remember their sins before God in silence, but without waiting begins to list in a rather harsh tone a number of sins on which the people may care to reflect and starts the Confession, inserting these sins into it. The Absolution is mumbled inaudibly while the minister continues to kneel in the stall.

How can the penitential prayers have more impact on the congregation?

At St Ann's they have been having some teaching about sin and forgiveness. One of the results has been exploration of other ways of bringing home the reality of sin and the power of God's forgiveness. Among other things, they have tried:

- * The use of images, objects, or simple drama related to the Confession.
- * A Kyrie Confession led by two people standing with their backs to each other, each offering a bidding in turn.
- * Changing posture, so that the congregation kneels for the Confession and stands for the Absolution. They have found that this not only reflects, but creates, an inner attitude.
- * The use of dim lighting to create a penitential atmosphere. They found this could be achieved very simply by lowering or switching off the lighting after the introduction, and switching it on again at the absolution.
- * The burning of incense or aromatic oils to make the congregation smell 'sweeter', and the sprinkling of water over the people as a sign of cleansing.

Where is the best place in a service for confession?

At St Christopher's several weeks are being devoted to teaching on repentance, confession and forgiveness. As a result the worship group has recommended that the Confession be used at different points in the service:

- * In both A Service of the Word and Order One Holy Communion, the usual place for the Prayers of Penitence is going to be – as in the Common Worship books – after the Greeting (and Prayer of Preparation, if it is used) in the Gathering part of the service. But as it is also possible for it to come later in the service, those who plan the worship will pick up when there is a need, for example, to respond to a sermon with penitence, and put the Confession after the sermon or with the intercessions.
- * A Service of the Word opens up the possibility of Penitence coming towards the end of the service, as its climax. There might be some occasions in the traditionally penitential seasons of Lent or Advent when this might work well.
- * The worship planning group will also look for occasional opportunities for using material for corporate preparation for confession. This might be done in silence; whilst sentences or passages of Scripture are read aloud; or by the singing of a suitable hymn or song, either corporately or by a solo voice. The material in A Form of Preparation on pages 161–165 of Common Worship will also provide a resource for this.

How to introduce the Confession

The minister at St Dodo's had been on a diocesan day on 'Preparing for Worship in Advent' but ignored all the points made there about the importance of introducing the Confession properly. As the handout said:

- * The purpose of the Invitation to Confession is to encourage people to call their sins to mind and to give them space to do so.
- * There should be time for silent reflection between the Invitation and the Confession. This may be a significant period of silence, with a structure indicated by the leader.
- * Words for the Invitation to Confession are provided for each part of the year in the Seasonal Provisions pages in Common Worship (page 300ff.), but any suitable words may be used, and other options are provided in New Patterns for Worship. Looking at the examples there will help those constructing their own invitations.
- * Words taken from one of the readings may be suitable, but care needs to be taken that the words will not be misunderstood when heard outside their biblical context. This is one example, using Matthew 1.21 as the inspiration for a Christmas invitation to confession:

Hear the words of the angel to Joseph:
 'You shall call his name Jesus,
 for he will save his people from their sins.'
 Therefore let us [kneel/stand and] seek the forgiveness of God through Jesus the Saviour of the world.

Can forms of confession and absolution be written for special occasions?

Only forms of confession and absolution which have been authorized may be used. This includes all those in the Holy Communion services and in the Confession and Absolution section of Common Worship (page 122f.), as well as the forms in The Book of Common Prayer. The reason for this is that the issue of penitence and reconciliation is a controversial one in the Church of England. Limiting the options in controversial areas such as this is intended to promote unity and avoid unnecessary division. The best way to incorporate words designed for a particular occasion, if one of the seasonal thematic confessions is not suitable, is to use the Kyrie option, which provides for the insertion of 'short penitential sentences' between the petitions of the Kyrie.

How are Kyrie Confessions constructed?

The note at the top of page 133 in Common Worship indicates that the Kyries may replace any form of confession, provided that the sentences inserted between the petitions are of a penitential character. Examples are given on page 133f. and pages 277–278 of Common Worship, and more can be found here. The appointed psalms and readings might be the first place to look for suitable sentences from the Bible. The use of a concordance, in book or electronic form, may be useful in leading to other biblical sentences, though it should be noted that the sentences do not have to come from the Bible. The sentences should not be too long, and the three should match each other in length and pattern. As the rubric in Common Worship, page 170, makes clear, if the Kyrie has been used as the confession, it should not be used again before or after the absolution.

Here is an example of a Kyrie Confession for Holy Week, which is clearly linked to a particular passage of Scripture:

We watch at a distance,
and are slow to follow Christ in the way of the cross.
Lord, have mercy.
Lord, have mercy.

We warm our hands by the fire,
and are afraid to be counted among his disciples.
Christ, have mercy.
Christ, have mercy.

We run away,
and fail to share the pain of Christ's suffering.
Lord, have mercy.
Lord, have mercy.

Does it matter which absolution is used?

If possible, an absolution should be chosen which reflects the style (in language, length and theme) of the confession, and also of the occasion or season. A penitential service, in Advent or Lent, for instance, may need the kind of confession and absolution which gives people more space for reflection. In this section, absolutions are suggested for each confession to assist in this choice, but any authorized absolution may be used. The printing of any of these absolutions in either the 'you' or 'us' form has no doctrinal or other significance. In each case, either a 'you' or 'us' form can be used (though those not ordained priest should use the 'us' form). Words in italics indicate the points where changes may be necessary.

Invitations to confession

General B1	Jesus says, 'Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is close at hand.' So let us turn away from sin and turn to the Lord, confessing our sins in penitence and faith. cf Matthew 4.17
General B2	Brothers and sisters, as we prepare to celebrate, let us call to mind our sins.
General B3	The gospel calls us to turn away from sin and be faithful to Christ. As we offer ourselves to him in penitence and faith, we renew our confidence and trust in his mercy.
Father, Son and Spirit Lament B4	'Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God Almighty.' We long for the fire of God's cleansing to touch our unclean lips, for our guilt to be removed and our sin wiped out. So we meet Father, Son and Holy Spirit with repentance in our hearts. cf Isaiah 6 and Revelation 4
Father, Son and Spirit B5	St Paul says 'Be imitators of God; love as Christ loved; do not grieve the Holy Spirit; put away all anger and bitterness, all slander and malice.' So let us confess our sins to God, who forgives us in Christ. cf Ephesians 4.30 – 5.1
God in creation Lament B6	Human sin disfigures the whole creation, which groans with eager longing for God's redemption. We confess our sin in penitence and faith. cf Romans 8.22,23
Christ's coming Lament B7	When the Lord comes, he will bring to light the things now hidden in darkness, and will disclose the purposes of the heart. Therefore in the light of Christ let us confess our sins.
Christ's coming B8	Christ the light of the world has come to dispel the darkness of our hearts. In his light let us examine ourselves and confess our sins.

Incarnation
B9

Hear the words of the angel to Joseph:
'You shall call his name Jesus,
for he will save his people from their sins.'
Therefore let us seek the forgiveness of God
through Jesus the Saviour of the world.
cf Matthew 1.21

Incarnation
B10

As we kneel with the shepherds before the newborn Christ child,
we open our hearts in penitence and faith.

Incarnation
B11

The grace of God has dawned upon the world through our Saviour Jesus Christ, who sacrificed himself for us to purify a people as his own.
Let us confess our sins.
cf Titus 2.11-14

Cross
B12

God shows his love for us
in that, while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.
Let us then show our love for him
by confessing our sins in penitence and faith.
cf Romans 5.8

Resurrection
B13

Christ our passover lamb has been sacrificed for us.
Let us therefore rejoice by putting away all malice and evil and confessing our sins with a sincere and true heart.
cf 1 Corinthians 5.7,8

Ascension
B14

Jesus is our high priest, tempted like us, yet without sin.
He lives for ever in heaven to intercede for us.
Through him we approach the throne of grace with confidence, and confess our sins.
cf Hebrews 4.15,16

Ascension
B15

Seeing we have a great high priest who has passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God,
let us draw near with a true heart, in full assurance of faith,
and make our confession to our heavenly Father.

Holy Spirit
B16

The Spirit of truth will convict the world of guilt about sin, righteousness and judgement.
We have grieved the Holy Spirit.
In sorrow we confess our sins.
cf John 16.8

Holy Spirit
B17

What God has prepared for those who love him,
he has revealed to us through the Spirit;
for the Spirit searches everything.
Therefore, let us in penitence open our hearts to the Lord, who has prepared good things for those who love him.
cf 1 Corinthians 2.9

Holy Spirit
B18

The Spirit of the Lord fills the world and knows our every word and deed.
Let us then open ourselves to the Lord and confess our sins in penitence and faith.

Word
B19

The word of God is living and active.
It judges the thoughts and intentions of the heart.
All is open and laid bare before the eyes of him to whom we give account.
We confess our sins in penitence and faith.
cf Hebrews 4.12

Lament
B20

The sacrifice acceptable to God is a broken spirit;
a broken and contrite heart God will not despise.
Our sins accuse us.
We confess them to God.
cf Psalm 51.17

Lament
B21

The sacrifice of God is a broken spirit;
a broken and contrite heart God will not despise.
Let us come to the Lord, who is full of compassion, and acknowledge our transgressions in penitence and faith.
Psalm 51.17

Lament
B22

Compassion and forgiveness belong to the Lord our God, though we have rebelled against him.
Let us then renounce our wilfulness and ask his mercy
by confessing our sins in penitence and faith.
cf Daniel 9.9

Relationships and healing
Lament
B23

Christ himself bore our sins in his body on the cross
so that, free from sin, we might live for righteousness;
by his wounds we have been healed.
Let us confess our sins.
cf 1 Peter 2.24

Relationships and healing
Incarnation
B24

The sun of righteousness has dawned with healing in his wings.
Let us come to the light of Christ, confessing our sins in penitence and faith.
cf Malachi 4.2

Relationships and healing
B25 Jesus said, 'Before you offer your gift, go and be reconciled.'
As sisters and brothers in God's family,
we come together to ask our Father for forgiveness.
Matthew 5.24

Relationships and healing
B26 We come to God as one from whom no secrets are hidden,
to ask for his forgiveness and peace.

Relationships and healing
B27 The grace of God has dawned upon the world with healing for all.
Let us come to him, in sorrow for our sins,
seeking healing and salvation.
cf Titus 2.11

Living in the world
B28 Jesus saw the city and wept over it, because it did not recognize the time of God's coming.
We confess our part in the self-centredness, blindness and sin
of the life of our city/community.
cf Luke 19.41

Holy Communion
B29 Brothers and sisters in Christ, as we gather at the Lord's table
we must recall the promises and warnings given to us in the Scriptures.
Let us therefore examine ourselves and repent of our sins.

Heaven
B30 Christ calls us to share the heavenly banquet of his love with all the saints in earth and heaven.
Knowing our unworthiness and sin,
let us ask from him both mercy and forgiveness.

Heaven
B31 Since we are surrounded by a great cloud of witnesses, let us also lay aside every weight and the sin that clings so closely, looking to Jesus in penitence and faith.
cf Hebrews 12.1

Heaven
B32 The saints were faithful unto death and now dwell in the heavenly kingdom for ever.
As we celebrate their joy,
let us bring to the Lord our sins and weaknesses,
and ask for his mercy.

Confessions

Where absolutions are suggested, these are designed to match the Confession with an absolution of similar style or which picks up similar themes or which is appropriate for the same season. They are suggestions only – other absolutions may be more appropriate for particular situations.

General
B33 Father eternal, giver of light and grace,
we have sinned against you and against our neighbour,
in what we have thought,
in what we have said and done,
through ignorance, through weakness,
through our own deliberate fault.
We have wounded your love,
and marred your image in us.
We are sorry and ashamed, and repent of all our sins.
For the sake of your Son Jesus Christ,
who died for us,
forgive us all that is past;
and lead us out from darkness to walk as children of light.
Amen.

B34 Almighty and most merciful Father,
we have wandered and strayed from your ways like lost sheep.
We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts.
We have offended against your holy laws.
We have left undone those things that we ought to have done;
and we have done those things that we ought not to have done;
and there is no health in us.
But you, O Lord, have mercy upon us sinners.
Spare those who confess their faults.
Restore those who are penitent,
according to your promises declared to mankind
in Christ Jesus our Lord.
And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake,
that we may live a disciplined, righteous and godly life,
to the glory of your holy name.

Almighty God,
Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, maker of all things, judge of all people,
we acknowledge and lament our many sins
and the wickedness we have committed time after time,
by thought, word and deed against your divine majesty.
We have provoked your righteous anger and your indignation against us.
We earnestly repent,
and are deeply sorry for these our wrongdoings;
the memory of them weighs us down,
the burden of them is too great for us to bear.
Have mercy upon us,
have mercy upon us, most merciful Father.
For your Son our Lord Jesus Christ's sake,
forgive us all that is past;
and grant that from this time forward we may always serve and please you in newness of life, to the honour and glory of your name;

God in creation
B42

[We confess our sin, and the sins of our society, in the misuse of God's creation.]

God our Father, we are sorry for the times when we have used your gifts carelessly, and acted ungratefully.

Hear our prayer, and in your mercy:

forgive us and help us.

We enjoy the fruits of the harvest,
but sometimes forget that you have given them to us.

Father, in your mercy:

forgive us and help us.

We belong to a people who are full and satisfied, but ignore the cry of the hungry.

Father, in your mercy:

forgive us and help us.

We are thoughtless,
and do not care enough for the world you have made.

Father, in your mercy:

forgive us and help us.

We store up goods for ourselves alone,
as if there were no God and no heaven.

Father, in your mercy:

forgive us and help us.

[Christ the light of the world has come to dispel the darkness of our hearts. In his light let us examine ourselves and confess our sins.]

Silence is kept.

Lord of grace and truth,
we confess our unworthiness to stand in your presence as your children.

We have sinned:

forgive and heal us.

The Virgin Mary accepted your call to be the mother of Jesus.

Forgive our disobedience to your will.

We have sinned:

forgive and heal us.

Your Son our Saviour was born in poverty in a manger.

Forgive our greed and rejection of your ways.

We have sinned:

forgive and heal us.

The shepherds left their flocks
to go to Bethlehem.

Forgive our self-interest and lack of vision.

We have sinned:

C Liturgy of the Word

Stories from the four churches

At St Ann's they are having an adult teaching series on Romans, using the lectionary material in Module 37 below. The response 'The same Lord is Lord of all ...' is used as part of the Gathering and Greeting, at the Gospel alleluia, and in a response after the sermon. They have decided not to use the Gospel reading provided in that module, but to continue with the Gospel reading set in the Common Worship Principal Service Lectionary. This is because they have discovered teaching material for children which is based on the lectionary.

The children usually depart before the Gospel, and might not follow the long reading from Romans, so the Gospel today comes immediately after the Collect. Everyone remains standing and the children go out after the psalm that follows. The Gospel is the story of the breakfast on the seashore after the resurrection. It is read dramatically from different parts of the building – the narrator at the lectern, Jesus by the communion table, and the disciples coming forward from the middle of the congregation.

For the sermon time, which lasts just over half an hour, the adults at St Ann's have a choice. Some go out to a discussion Bible study on Romans, others to a well-structured adult education session on the Church and politics (linking up with Romans 13). The rest stay in church for a sermon on the same passage, with visuals on an overhead projector and questions at the end.

The four people who share the responsibility for reading at St Bartholomew's have recently been on a deanery training day for those who read. They have returned with some good ideas for varying the usual pattern and are much more confident. There is a card on the lectern reminding the reader how to announce the reading. She introduces the reading with the paragraph heading and the page number from the pew Bible. After the reading she leaves space for some reflective silence before saying, 'This is the word of the Lord.'

At St Christopher's the worship committee has asked one or two artistic people in the church to produce something based on this Sunday's Gospel. As a result there is a throw-over frontal on the altar, picking up the bread and fishes theme. Today the Gospel procession, with the deacon carrying the book of the Gospels, preceded by acolytes and crucifer, comes only to the front row of the congregation, rather than taking up its normal position halfway up the centre aisle of the nave. This is to allow the people to remain facing towards the front, where on a screen behind the lectern there is a beautiful sequence of slides of Galilee, fishermen, bread and fishes. The sermon is about ten minutes long, and ends with some guided meditation inviting people to imagine themselves playing a part in the Gospel story.

At St Dodo's no one comes forward to read the first reading so the president glares at the churchwarden, moves to the lectern and intones the lesson in a voice betraying boredom. There is a bit of excitement, though, as – inevitably – two people come forward to read the second reading and look like having a punch up. The one who wins fails to announce where the reading comes from, which is a pity, as it seems to have been changed from what is on the notice sheet. It would have helped to be able to follow the reading, as he was speaking very quietly, on the mistaken assumption that the microphone was amplifying all he said. But no one had adjusted the height of it since one of the children read last Sunday.

Making it live

St Ann's worship group plans how the readings are done, usually a month at a time to make sure that there is variety and that the 'unusual' element is not overdone. Different methods they have used include:

- * gentle musical backing to the reading, on tape or live;
- * mime to the reading;
- * especially at an all-age service, having the reading interrupted by someone asking questions, and putting in mistakes and asking the children to spot them;
- * memorizing a Gospel reading and telling it as a story;
- * a dramatic reading using different parts of the building;
- * putting out all lights apart from a spotlight on the reader;
- * breaking up long story reading with songs or choruses.

The sermon: what and where?

Note 7 in A Service of the Word and Note 13 in Holy Communion in Common Worship redefine the sermon. There are a number of possibilities:

- * the use of drama, interviews, discussion and audio-visuals;
- * having more than one person taking part;
- * dividing the congregation into groups for all (as at St Ann's here), or for part of the time (for example, getting people talking to those near them about how what is being said applies to them);
- * preaching the sermon in, say, two parts at different points in the service;
- * time for silent – or guided – reflection or meditation after the sermon.

Add to this some further things to consider:

- * the use of handouts, either outlining the whole sermon or giving points for action;
- * using data projector or overhead projector visuals in an integrated way, with pictures taking the application or story further, rather than merely summarizing the sermon in words;
- * sermons with deliberate interruptions and questions, or with pauses to pray or worship and sing;
- * the use of drama, again as an integral part of the sermon.

Discussing these ideas should open some new possibilities and also begin to answer the question 'Where?' Clearly not all of these sermon activities are suitable for the pulpit. Different areas of the church may be used. And even with a more traditional sermon there may be a case for leaving the pulpit, moving nearer a small congregation at the back, or moving to and speaking from different points in the church, for example from the lectern where the word has been read, or from under a window whose stained glass enshrines the story.

Responding to the readings

St Bartholomew's have been making a list of possible ways the congregation might respond to the readings:

- * more pauses for meditation;
- * responses which reflect the nature of the reading (such as those in the modular material in this resource section);
- * short prayers or a verse of a psalm after the reading;
- * involving the congregation in drama and dialogue readings;
- * physical action, such as the stamping of feet in the synagogue when the story of Haman in the book of Esther is read!

Discussion starter: improving Bible reading in our worship

- Make a list of the problems with reading the Bible, for example:
 - * The readings sound boring and are simply something to get through as a duty, and not as part of the worship.
 - * They are too long.
 - * Bad introductions impose partial or unhelpful meanings on the readings, or fail to raise expectations. This might lead into some discussion about how the readings should be introduced.
 - * Failure to use the lectionary provision can result in a narrower overall diet of Scripture: sometimes only a few verses are read, to be used as the sermon text, determined by the particular interests of the minister.
 - * People are not used to listening to large amounts of prose being read, so those who read need training and may need time to prepare. There might be some discussion about the pros and cons of having children reading in all-age services, and whether the advantages of involving them outweigh the possible disadvantages of inaudibility or lack of understanding.

- * Nowadays people think in visual terms, and many readings do not conjure up pictures in people's minds.
- * People don't know why the Bible is being read.
- * No response is expected.

2 Working in pairs, put the following reasons for reading the Bible in church in order of importance, and then discuss the results with everyone else:

- * To teach and instruct;
- * to link us firmly with the tradition;
- * to ensure that we listen to the whole counsel of God;
- * to deliver us from the personal whim or interest of the preacher or worship leader;
- * to allow one part of Scripture to throw kaleidoscopic light on another;
- * to identify ourselves again as the people to whom God is speaking.

By publicly rehearsing its corporate story the community is proclaiming its identity as the people of God. Shared stories bind people together. Story is important because

- * it is easy to listen to, identify with, remember and re-tell;
- * it links the community clearly with the tradition of God's saving action;
- * in worship, it can more easily be used to stimulate praise, as we hear what God has done, rather than receive instruction;
- * it is important for children: action stories keep things moving, add a sense of excitement and humanity.

3 How can we get the whole congregation to 'own' the readings?

Discuss the ideas in the section 'Responding to the readings' on page 101. Are there other ideas, or some other things in the St Ann's section 'Making it live' on page 100, which we could put into practice in our church?

Liturgy of the Word: modular lectionary material

The use of one of the authorized lectionaries (from Common Worship or The Book of Common Prayer) around the main festivals serves to foster the sense that different worshipping communities are all 'telling the same story'. This is more possible than ever since the advent of the three-year Common Worship lectionary which shares so much in common with the versions of the three-year lectionary in use in other churches.

Some parts of the early Church used this principle of thematic reading for festivals, and we can see this reflected in the traditional readings for Lent and Easter, Advent, Christmas and Epiphany.

Outside that time, in Ordinary Time, the particular needs of different congregations may be met by different patterns of readings. A particular event in the life of the church (for instance, a new building project, a new phase in the life of the church, a disastrous fire, or a traumatic pastoral situation) might be the trigger for such a pattern. The reason might equally be the more mundane desire to match the Sunday preaching to the material being studied in small groups, such as home groups or cell groups, during the week. There will be times when the small groups will follow the lead given by the Sunday readings, but there might be other times when the lead is given by the small group materials.

Common Worship makes provision in two places for just such flexibility:

I The Lectionary

During the period from the First Sunday of Advent to the Presentation of Christ in the Temple, during the period from Ash Wednesday to Trinity Sunday, and on All Saints' Day, the readings shall come from an authorized lectionary. During Ordinary Time (i.e. between the Presentation and Ash Wednesday and between Trinity Sunday and Advent Sunday), authorized lectionary provision remains the norm but, after due consultation with the Parochial Church Council, the minister may, from time to time, depart from the lectionary provision for pastoral reasons or preaching or teaching purposes.

Rule 7, Common Worship, page 540

2 A Service of the Word

There should preferably be at least two readings from the Bible, but it is recognized that if occasion demands there may be only one reading. It may be dramatized, sung or read responsively. The readings are taken from an authorized lectionary during the period from the Third Sunday of Advent to the Baptism of Christ, and from Palm Sunday to Trinity Sunday. When A Service of the Word is combined with Holy Communion on Sundays and Principal Holy Days, the readings of the day are normally used.

Note 5, A Service of the Word

This means that there are periods during which one of the authorized lectionaries is to be followed. The Note indicates that normally these periods are longer in the case of services of Holy Communion than in the case of non-eucharistic services.

Non-eucharistic services

The modular lectionary provision

The lectionary modules provided here are designed as replacements for the authorized readings during parts of the remaining periods of the year.

They illustrate how provision can be made for the semi-continuous reading of Scripture in short units comprising several weeks. They also provide examples of thematic and story material suitable both for all-age services and for adult worship.

These modules are samples only. The local church is at liberty to amend these, or other provision, or to produce its own material, as long as the requirements of Note 6 below are fulfilled.

Verse numbers for Bible readings have been taken from the New Revised Standard Version, except for the Psalms, where the numbering used in the Common Worship psalter has been followed.

Notes to the resources

1 Controlling reading

The controlling reading, in bold, must always be used in some form. For some modules (mainly those in which the controlling reading takes the form of a narrative) the controlling reading is given a brief 'title'. This is designed to aid planning, and it should not be taken as the only way of summarizing the reading.

2 Adapting the length of modules

It is important to plan ahead. Where necessary, the modules may be shortened or amended, to fit the number of weeks available. Square brackets [] around the week number in the lectionary charts indicate suggested weeks to omit where necessary. This may also occasionally be necessary in order to avoid having the same or similar readings at the point at which the local church moves from one of these modules to another, or between these (or other local provision) and an authorized lectionary.

When omitting part of the module in this way, care should be taken to preserve the balance of the readings.

3 Editing and adapting the length of readings

Where verses have been bracketed or omitted to shorten the reading, a longer version may be used if appropriate. Long readings may be broken up by teaching or songs. Care should be taken in the selection of the translation to be used at the service, and in any editing of the passages, to ensure that the reading makes sense. Particular care is needed in identifying speakers in the passage and making clear to whom pronouns refer.

4 Collects and other prayers

The Common Worship collects, especially in Ordinary Time, do not relate particularly to the readings and so will be just as appropriate with these readings as with the authorized lectionary readings. If a thematic prayer is required, this may be sought from other sources or devised locally.

5 Use of responses

Each module below is provided with a verse and response. This could be used in one or more of the following places:

- * at the start of the service, following the greeting;
- * as a refrain for the psalm (perhaps in an adapted form);
- * before the reading;
- * after the reading;
- * after the sermon, or other teaching, as part of the response;
- * after the Creed or Affirmation of Faith;
- * as part of the conclusion of the service;
- * as part of worship in small groups (such as cell groups, home groups or all-age worship) taking place during the week.

6 Local provision

Churches may design their own reading scheme for parts of the church year, in accordance with the Notes in Common Worship and A Service of the Word. Where they do so they should ensure that an adequate amount of Scripture is chosen; that justice is done to the balance of the book and to the general teaching of Scripture; that appropriate Gospel passages are included if the services include Holy Communion; and that the PCC or an appropriate lay group is involved in the decisions.

7 Appropriate times for the use of modules

In some cases, a particular time (or times) of the year may suggest itself for the use of a particular module. Some modules could appropriately be used in more than one season.

8 Interruptions to the modules

The modules do not have to be used for a series of consecutive Sundays. It may sometimes be necessary to interrupt a module for a special service or celebration (such as Harvest Festival).

Further, a module could be spread over a number of months, being used only for certain sorts of services (such as all-age services). Where this is the case, the provision of readings for the other Sundays will need to take account of this. One way of tackling this sort of situation would be to have two modular sets of readings operating in parallel: one for all-age services and one for other services.

psalms and canticles

D Psalms and Canticles

Stories from the four churches

At St Ann's the worship planning group have been giving some thought to the fact that theirs is one of many churches where people are reluctant to sing psalms to traditional Anglican chant because they want the worship to be accessible and 'user-friendly', especially to those unfamiliar with traditional worship. At one stage they hadn't the musical resources anyway. They went for a couple of years without using the psalms in any regular way at all, and were in danger of becoming unfamiliar with the riches they contain. So they explored the ways in which other churches are using the psalms musically today, ways which are adaptable to different levels of musical expertise and resourcing. As a result, they're using a metrical psalm in today's Sunday service. Metrical psalms have been popular since the sixteenth century, and many have been written recently, including many worship songs based on psalms. Any congregation that finds hymn singing valuable can sing psalms in this way, though hymns and songs vary considerably in how closely they stick to the written text of the psalm itself.

Today St Bartholomew's are using Psalm 66 from this section of New Patterns for Worship. The two sides of the congregation are saying alternate verses of the psalm. They have not much in the way of musical resources, and so have been studying a variety of ways of saying the psalms (see page 126). They have tried some of these approaches with the canticles too, but have realized that some of them are different from the psalms, in that they do not necessarily follow the parallelism of Hebrew poetry. Therefore the verses don't have to be said alternately, which sometimes destroys the sense. Some canticles are best said all together. Some might be sung by a cantor with responses.

At St Christopher's there is a cantor (someone with a strong voice who can give a lead and sing solo) who sings the text of the psalm to a simple 'tone' or melody. The congregation then sing a simple response, which can begin and conclude the psalm, or be repeated after each verse or group of verses. This works well unaccompanied but today the organ is used; other instrumental accompaniments are also used. There are many books available which contain this sort of simple chant. Some use a similar approach but with a more 'worship-song' style of melody for the response. Another approach they have tried at St Christopher's is to speak the words of a psalm over a background of quiet instrumental music, using either suitable pieces of music found by the organist, or published resources specifically designed for this.

The board outside St Dodo's advertises Choral Evensong. For a while, when they had no organist, they set up a gramophone (as they called it) on the chancel steps and had the choir singing along to a record of a famous cathedral choir while everyone listened. This evening there is an organist and a robed choir of five people, and they sing the psalms to the New Cathedral Psalter, but to an unfamiliar chant pitched very high and too irregular for anyone else to join in. It is difficult to hear the words, which are different from those in the Common Worship books, because the organ is so loud it is drowning out their voices, which is perhaps as well, because it sounds as if they are having a competition to see how many words they can get on to one note ...

Saying the Psalms: what St Bartholomew's considered

Saying the Psalms is perfectly acceptable, and not necessarily a poor substitute for singing them. Here are some approaches to consider:

- * solo voice for the main text, with an unvarying congregational response after each verse or after a group of verses (see, for example, Psalm 8 below);
- * splitting the congregation into two parts (two sides of the building; men and women; adults and children; or whatever is appropriate) and having each part take alternate verses of the psalm; alternatively, give the groups half of each verse – this is especially effective if the psalm utilizes the technique of 'parallelism', where each verse contains the same idea articulated in two different ways (Psalm 66, below, could work in this way);
- * using the same approach, but splitting the psalm between leader and congregation (see, for example, Psalm 141 below);
- * saying the whole psalm together congregationally (see, for example, Psalm 118a below);
- * listening while the psalm is read by one or more solo voices (see, for instance, Psalm 70 below), perhaps with a quiet, reflective instrumental accompaniment on a flute, acoustic guitar or soft keyboard at a distance.

In each case it will be important to consider the particular style and genre of the psalm in question to determine the most appropriate way of using it. Such considerations will also have implications for the manner in which the psalm is recited:

- * shouted loudly, by a standing congregation, for a psalm which is an act of praise to God;
- * recited quietly, slowly and reflectively, with the congregation kneeling or seated, for a psalm of lament;
- * proclaimed loudly from one part of the congregation to another for a psalm which is a call to worship;
- * listened to quietly, followed by silence, for a psalm which articulates the psalmist's anger and frustration etc.

As the Introduction to the Psalter in Common Worship: Daily Prayer says, 'some psalms, or parts of psalms, lend themselves to one method rather than another, and those leading worship should consider carefully which will be best in each instance'.

Singing the Psalms

Psalm and canticle texts can be sung in four different ways:

- * by everyone;
- * in dialogue between two groups, or between soloist and everyone else;
- * by a soloist (or choral group) with refrain for everyone else;
- * by a soloist or choral group, with everyone else listening.

The nature of the music will depend whether the text is metrical or irregular prose. Metrical texts can have hymn- or song-style music; irregular prose texts need some form of repeated melody that can be adapted to irregular patterns of words.

As with saying psalms, some ways of singing them may be more appropriate for different churches, for different contexts of worship, or for different psalm texts. There are many permutations and possibilities, and a whole range of musical styles.

Here are some options.

Psalm and canticle paraphrases (metrical psalms)

Hymn style, sung by everyone (or shared alternate verses).
 Song style, sung by everyone (or shared alternate verses).
 Song style, with solo or choral verses, and refrain for everyone.
 Song style, sung by a cantor or choral group.

Psalm and canticle texts

Stressed prose (e.g. the Grail Psalter)

- * Sung to a simple chant by a cantor, or choral group, or by all, with or without refrain for everyone (these include the psalms and canticles set by Joseph Gelineau).

Unstressed prose (e.g. Common Worship Psalter, ICEL Psalter, Book of Common Prayer Psalter)

- * Sung by a cantor, or choral group, or by all, to a simple, modern chant, with or without refrain for everyone.
- * Sung to a plainsong tone by a cantor, or choral group, or by all, with or without refrain for everyone.
- * Sung to Anglican chant by a cantor, or choral group, or by all, with or without refrain for everyone.

In all these examples, the refrain can be sung in the style of a chant, or can be a hymn- or song-style setting.

Psalm or canticle settings (paraphrase or prose)

- * Intended for singing by a soloist or choir, and to be heard by everyone else. A sung repertory of psalms and canticles needs to be built slowly, so that everyone is comfortable and confident.

The large range of psalms specified in the lectionary means that it may not always be possible to sing the psalm specified as part of the Liturgy of the Word. There are, however, opportunities to use a psalm text in other parts of the service where there is singing.

It's often easier to sing psalm paraphrases (metrical psalms) to familiar hymn and song melodies. However, prose psalms and canticles can become part of the musical repertory of a congregation, particularly if the number of psalm or canticle texts and chants used is reasonably small.

How to construct a psalm or canticle response

Both here in this section, and in the Psalms and Canticles in Common Worship: Daily Prayer, some responses are provided for the congregation, but alternative responses may be used for particular occasions, for instance to fit with a particular season or theme.

- * A verse or half-verse from within the psalm or canticle may be appropriate, or a text from elsewhere may be chosen.
- * Remember that the main aim of the response is to provide an opportunity for reflecting on the theme.
- * Responses should be short, memorable, and capable of repetition.
- * The response should support and not interrupt the flow of the psalm or canticle, either in its rhythm or in its sequence of thought.

Notes to the resources

- 1 The note on Psalms from A Service of the Word (Note 6) gives considerable scope for variety and flexibility in the use of psalms. It permits:
 - * saying or singing the psalms in traditional ways;
 - * using a metrical version (that is, a hymn or song based on a psalm);
 - * using a responsive form, or a paraphrase.In addition, permission is given for the use (on occasions) of a song or canticle taken directly from another part of Scripture to replace the psalm.
- 2 In this section we have provided a small selection of material taken from, or based on, psalms and canticles. There is a variety of style and presentation, and we have tried to consider the needs of a congregation saying the psalms as well as singing them. One of these examples might replace the psalm set in the lectionary on suitable occasions. Each of them could be further adapted, and they are intended to encourage local creativity.
- 3 These examples, apart from one instance, do not follow the Common Worship Psalter. They are drawn and adapted from a variety of translations of the Bible. Some are much closer to paraphrase than translation. In doing this we have tried to keep in mind the needs of children and of worshippers who are familiar neither with church, nor with echoes of traditional translations or biblical passages.
- 4 For one of the psalms (Psalm 34) and some of the canticles (Venite, Jubilate, Magnificat) we have deliberately included a number of alternatives, to demonstrate the wide range of styles in which psalms and canticles can be spoken or sung. Metrical versions may of course be spoken as well as sung.
- 5 We have tried to provide psalms which connect with particular 'moods' (such as joy, thanks, lament, struggle, praise, anger, reflection, questioning, etc.) as well as with particular seasons.

Psalms and verses from psalms

Verses from Psalm 8 D1

The ICEL (International Commission on English in the Liturgy) translation, with a response.

Lord our God,
the whole world tells the greatness of your name.
Your glory reaches beyond the stars.

Even the babble of infants declares your strength,
your power to halt the enemy and avenger.
Your glory reaches beyond the stars.

I see your handiwork in the heavens:
the moon and the stars you set in place.
Your glory reaches beyond the stars.

What is humankind that you remember them,
the human race that you care for them?
Your glory reaches beyond the stars.

You treat them like gods,
dressing them in glory and splendour.
You give them charge of the earth, laying all at their feet:
cattle and sheep, wild beasts,
birds of the sky, fish of the sea, every swimming creature.
Your glory reaches beyond the stars.

Lord our God,
the whole world tells the greatness of your name.
Your glory reaches beyond the stars.

Psalm 34 D2

Common Worship: Daily Prayer contains responsive versions of all the psalms, with psalm prayers for each one. One of these, Psalm 34, is included here as an example.

This is followed by two versions of verses from Psalm 34, turned into a responsive acclamation. The first of these two versions uses the Common Worship translation of the psalm; the second is based loosely on the CEV (Contemporary English Version of the Bible).

There are a number of metrical and sung versions of Psalm 34 easily available in hymn books, such as:

- * 'Tell his praise in song and story' (8787 D) – T. Dudley Smith
- * 'Through all the changing scenes of life' (8686 CM) – Tate and Brady
- * 'Praise to the Lord' (Songs from the Psalms © Make Way Music) – Graham Kendrick

Two further singable versions are also included here, by Teresa Brown and Paul Wigmore.

Refrain:

- 1 I will bless the Lord at all times; ♦
his praise shall ever be in my mouth.
- 2 My soul shall glory in the Lord; ♦
let the humble hear and be glad.
- 3 O magnify the Lord with me; ♦
let us exalt his name together.
- 4 I sought the Lord and he answered me ♦
and delivered me from all my fears.
- 5 Look upon him and be radiant ♦ and your faces shall not be ashamed.
- 6 This poor soul cried, and the Lord heard me ♦ and saved me from all my troubles. R
- 7 The angel of the Lord encamps around those who fear him ♦
and delivers them.
- 8 O taste and see that the Lord is gracious; ♦ blessed is the one who trusts in him.
- 9 Fear the Lord, all you his holy ones, ♦
for those who fear him lack nothing.
- 10 Lions may lack and suffer hunger, ♦ but those who seek the Lord lack nothing that is good. R
- 11 Come, my children, and listen to me; ♦
I will teach you the fear of the Lord.
- 12 Who is there who delights in life ♦ and longs for days to enjoy good things?
- 13 Keep your tongue from evil ♦
and your lips from lying words.
- 14 Turn from evil and do good; ♦ seek peace and pursue it. R
- 15 The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous ♦ and his ears are open to their cry.
- 16 The face of the Lord is against those who do evil, ♦ to root out the remembrance of them from the earth.
- 17 The righteous cry and the Lord hears them ♦ and delivers them out of all their troubles.
- 18 The Lord is near to the brokenhearted ♦ and will save those who are crushed in spirit. R

- 19 Many are the troubles of the righteous; ♦
from them all will the Lord deliver them.
- 20 He keeps all their bones, ♦
so that not one of them is broken.
- 21 But evil shall slay the wicked ♦ and those who hate the righteous will be condemned.
- 22 The Lord ransoms the life of his servants ♦ and will condemn none who seek refuge in him. R

Verses from Psalm 34
D3

O magnify the Lord with me;
let us exalt his name together.

O magnify the Lord with me;
let us exalt his name together.

I sought the Lord and he answered me;
he delivered me from all my fears.

O magnify the Lord with me.

In my weakness I cried to the Lord;
he heard me and saved me from my troubles.

Let us exalt his name together.

Glory to the Father and to the Son
and to the Holy Spirit.

O magnify the Lord with me;
let us exalt his name together.

Verses from Psalm 34
D4

Honour the Lord with me!
Celebrate his great name.

Honour the Lord with me!
Celebrate his great name.

I asked the Lord for help and he saved me from all my fears.

Honour the Lord with me.

I was a nobody, but I prayed,
and the Lord saved me from all my troubles.

Celebrate his great name.

Glory to the Father and to the Son
and to the Holy Spirit.

Honour the Lord with me.
Celebrate his great name.

The Lord is close to the brokenhearted
D5

*Refrain:
The Lord is close to the brokenhearted;
blessed be the Lord.*

Cantor/Choir

I will bless the Lord at all times,
God's praise always on my lips;
glorify the Lord with me,
together let us praise God's name. R

I sought the Lord and was heard;
from all my terrors set free.
When the poor cry out the Lord hears them and rescues them from all their distress. R

The Lord is close to the brokenhearted;
those whose spirit is crushed God will save.
Many are the trials of the upright but the Lord will come to rescue them. R

I'll praise the Lord for ever
D6

*Refrain:
Glorify the Lord with me; exalt his name, for great is he!
I'll praise the Lord for ever and ever.*

I'll praise the Lord for ever and ever,
my soul shall boast of his wonderful name: R

I sought the Lord, he answered my calling, delivered me from my innermost fears: R

O taste and see how gracious the Lord is – secure are they who take refuge in him: R

The Lord redeems the faithful who serve him, and those who trust him he never condemns: R

Verses from Psalm 40
D7

A paraphrase of some verses from the psalm, with a response.

You put a new song in my mouth:
a song of praise to you, my God.

You put a new song in my mouth:
a song of praise to you, my God.

I waited patiently for you, Lord;
you bent down to me and heard my cry for help.
You put a new song in my mouth.

Many shall see, and stand amazed,
and put their trust in you, Lord.
You put a new song in my mouth.

I love to do your will, Lord God;
your law is deep in my heart.
You put a new song in my mouth.

I proclaimed your righteousness in the gathering of God's people;
 I did not hold back from speaking out.
You put a new song in my mouth.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.
You put a new song in my mouth:
 a song of praise to you, my God.

cf Psalm 40.1-3,9,10

Verses from Psalm 46
D8

Verses from the psalm, with a response.

The Lord is with us, he is our stronghold;
 God will help at the break of day.
The Lord is with us, he is our stronghold;
 God will help at the break of day.

God is our refuge and strength,
 ready to help whenever we are in trouble:
God will help at the break of day.

We will not fear, even if the earth shakes,
 and the mountains topple into the sea:
God will help at the break of day.

Come now and look at the works of the Lord,
 the awesome things he has done on earth:
God will help at the break of day.

Be still and know that I am God;
 I will be exalted among the nations;
 I will be exalted in the earth:
God will help at the break of day.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.
The Lord is with us, he is our stronghold:
 God will help at the break of day.

Psalm 46.1-3,8,10

Verses from Psalm 66
D9

A psalm used by the congregation in two parts, A and B.

Leader Let the praises of God ring out.
All He is the source of our life.

A Let all creation rejoice in God;
B sing the glory of his name.

A Come and see the work of God,
B how wonderful he is to all people.

A He turned the sea into dry land,
B so his people went through the water on foot.

A There we rejoiced in him.
B In his might he rules for ever.

Leader Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.
All Let the praises of God ring out.
 He is the source of our life.

cf Psalm 66.4-8

Psalm 70
D10

This is the ICEL translation, probably best spoken by a single voice.

Help me, God.
 Lord, be quick to save me.
 People are plotting to kill me;
 humble them, shame them.

They want to ruin me;
 ruin and disgrace them.
 Let those who jeer at me swallow their shameful taunts.

But those who seek you and trust your saving love rejoice and always sing,
 'God is great.'

I am poor and helpless,
 O God, hurry to my side!
 Lord, my help, my rescue,
 do not delay.

Verses from Psalm 95
D11

This is a very free paraphrase of selected verses from the psalm, intended to convey the mood of the psalm and not just its content.

Come, let us sing to the Lord our God;
raise the roof to the Rock of rescue.

Come into the presence of the Lord with thanks;
raise the rafters with songs of praise.

The Lord is the great God, over all;
greater than every other power.

He holds the depths of the earth in his hands,
and the mountain peaks belong to him.

The ocean is the Lord's: it was made by God;
the land was formed by his own hands.

Come, let us bow before the Lord our maker;
with humble hearts we worship God.

The Lord is God and we are his;
we are the Shepherd's very own flock.

cf Psalm 95.1-7

Verses from Psalm 102
D12

Selected verses from the psalm, turned into a responsive acclamation.

Turn your ear to me;
be swift to answer when I call.
Turn your ear to me;
be swift to answer when I call.

Lord, hear my prayer,
and let my cry come before you:
be swift to answer when I call.

Do not hide your face from me in the day of my trouble:
be swift to answer when I call.

You, Lord, endure for ever,
and your name from age to age:
be swift to answer when I call.

You will be moved to have compassion on Zion,
for it is time to have pity on her:
be swift to answer when I call.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.
Turn your ear to me;
be swift to answer when I call.

Psalm 102.1,2,12,13

Verses from Psalm 118 (a)
D13

A selection of verses, in a contemporary translation, designed for the congregation to say together.

When I was really going through it, I prayed to the Lord.
He answered my prayer, and set me free.

The Lord is on my side,
I am not afraid of what others can do to me.

With the Lord on my side
I will defeat all my enemies.

It is best to trust the Lord for protection.
Don't put your trust in anyone else.

cf Psalm 118.5-8

Verses from Psalm 118 (b)
D14

A further selection of verses from Psalm 118, this time set out as a dialogue between leader and congregation.

Open the gates of justice!
I will enter and tell the Lord how thankful I am.

Here is the gate of the Lord!
All who do right may enter this gate.
I praise the Lord for answering my prayers and saving me.

The stone the builders rejected has now become the most important stone.
The Lord has done this, and it is amazing to us.

This is a day that belongs to the Lord!
Let us rejoice and be glad today.

We'll ask the Lord to save us.
We'll ask the Lord to let us succeed.

God bless the one who comes in the name of the Lord.
We bless you from here, in the house of the Lord.

The Lord is God; he has given us light.
Let us join the joyful procession to the altar of the Lord.

The Lord is my God.
I will praise him and tell him how thankful I am.

Tell the Lord how thankful you are because he is kind and always merciful.

cf Psalm 118.19-29

Verses from Psalm 119
D15

A selection of verses, based on a contemporary translation and set out as a dialogue between leader and congregation.

Treat me with kindness, Lord
so that I may live and do what you say.
Open my mind:
let me discover the wonders of your law.

Your laws are my greatest joy!
I do what they say.

I am at the point of death.
Breathe new life into me, as your word has promised.

When I told you my troubles, you answered my prayers.
Now teach me your laws.
Help me to understand your teachings,
and I will think about your marvellous deeds.

I am overcome with sorrow.
Strengthen me, as you have promised.
I am eager to do all that you want.
Help me to understand more and more.
cf Psalm 119.17,18,24-28,32

Verses from Psalm 130
D16

A selection of verses with the same response between each block of text, allowing the psalm to be used without a text for the congregation.

Out of the depths I have called to you, Lord.
Let your ears be open to hear my voice.

My hope is in God's word.

If you recorded all our sins who could come before you?

My hope is in God's word.

There is forgiveness with you:
therefore you shall be feared.

My hope is in God's word.

My soul is longing for the Lord,
more than those who watch for daybreak.

My hope is in God's word.

O Israel, wait for the Lord,
for with the Lord there is mercy.

My hope is in God's word.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

My hope is in God's word.

Verses from Psalm 141
D17

A selection of verses, set out as a dialogue between leader and congregation.

O Lord, we call to you: come to us quickly.
Hear us when we cry to you.

Let our prayers rise up before you like incense:
let our lifted hands be like an evening sacrifice.

Put a guard on our mouths, O Lord;
keep watch over our lips.

Turn our hearts from evil desires,
and keep us from doing wrong.

Glory to the Father and to the Son
and to the Holy Spirit;
as it was in the beginning is now
and shall be for ever. Amen.

cf Psalm 141.1-4

An act of praise based on Psalm 145
D18

A selection of verses, set out as a dialogue between leader and congregation.

Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised:
there is no end to his greatness.

One generation shall praise your works to another,
and shall declare your power.

All creation praises you, Lord,
and your faithful servants bless you.

They declare the glory of your kingdom and tell of your mighty power.

My mouth shall proclaim the praise of the Lord.

Let every living thing bless his holy name for ever and ever.

Te Deum Laudamus

We praise you, O God,
 we acclaim you as the Lord;
 all creation worships you,
 the Father everlasting.
 To you all angels, all the powers of heaven,
 the cherubim and seraphim, sing in endless praise:
 Holy, holy, holy Lord, God of power and might,
 heaven and earth are full of your glory.
 The glorious company of apostles praise you.
 The noble fellowship of prophets praise you.
 The white-robed army of martyrs praise you.
 Throughout the world the holy Church acclaim you:
 Father, of majesty unbounded,
 your true and only Son, worthy of all praise,
 the Holy Spirit, advocate and guide.

You, Christ, are the King of glory,
 the eternal Son of the Father.
 When you took our flesh to set us free
 you humbly chose the Virgin's womb.
 You overcame the sting of death and opened the kingdom of heaven to all believers.
 You are seated at God's right hand in glory.
 We believe that you will come and be our judge.
 Come then, Lord, and help your people, bought with the price of your own blood,
 and bring us with your saints to glory everlasting.

[Save your people, Lord, and bless your inheritance.
 Govern and uphold them now and always.

Day by day we bless you.
 We praise your name for ever.

Keep us today, Lord, from all sin.
 Have mercy on us, Lord, have mercy.

Lord, show us your love and mercy,
 for we have put our trust in you.

In you, Lord, is our hope:
 let us never be put to shame.]

Te Deum Laudamus (God, we praise you)

God, we praise you, God, we bless you,
 God, we name you sovereign Lord!
 Mighty king whom angels worship,
 Father, by your Church adored:
 All creation shows your glory,
 Heaven and earth draw near your throne Singing 'Holy, holy, holy,'
 Lord of hosts, and God alone.

True apostles, faithful prophets,
 Saints who set their world ablaze,
 Martyrs, once unknown, unheeded,
 Join one growing song of praise,
 While your Church on earth confesses
 One majestic Trinity:
 Father, Son, and Holy Spirit,
 God, our hope eternally.

Jesus Christ, the King of glory,
 Everlasting Son of God,
 Humble was your virgin mother,
 Hard the lonely path you trod:
 By your cross is sin defeated,
 Hell confronted face to face,
 Heaven opened to believers,
 Sinners justified by grace.

Christ, at God's right hand victorious,
 You will judge the world you made;
 Lord, in mercy help your servants
 For whose freedom you have paid:
 Raise us up from dust to glory,
 Guard us from all sin today;
 King enthroned above all praises,
 Save your people, God, we pray.

Venite – a Song of Triumph

- 1 O come, let us sing to the Lord; ♦
let us heartily rejoice in the rock of our salvation.
- 2 Let us come into his presence with thanksgiving ♦ and be glad in him with psalms.
- 3 For the Lord is a great God ♦
and a great king above all gods.
- 4 In his hand are the depths of the earth ♦ and the heights of the mountains are his also.
- 5 The sea is his, for he made it, ♦
and his hands have moulded the dry land.
- 6 Come, let us worship and bow down ♦ and kneel before the Lord our Maker.
- 7 For he is our God; ♦
we are the people of his pasture and the sheep of his hand.

Glory to the Father and to the Son
and to the Holy Spirit;
as it was in the beginning is now
and shall be for ever. Amen.

Venite – a metrical version

Come, worship God who is worthy of honour,
Enter his presence with thanks and a song!
He is the rock of his people's salvation,
To whom our jubilant praises belong.

Ruled by his might are the heights of the mountains,
Held in his hands are the depths of the earth;
His is the sea, his the land for he made them,
King above all gods, who gave us our birth.

We are his people, the sheep of his pasture,
He is our maker and to him we pray;
Gladly we kneel in obedience before him –
Great is the God whom we worship this day!

Now let us listen, for God speaks among us,
Open our hearts and receive what he says:
Peace be to all who remember his goodness,
Trust in his word and rejoice in his ways!

Jubilate – a Song of Joy

- 1 O be joyful in the Lord, all the earth; ♦ serve the Lord with gladness and come before his presence with a song.
- 2 Know that the Lord is God; ♦ it is he that has made us and we are his;
we are his people and the sheep of his pasture.
- 3 Enter his gates with thanksgiving and his courts with praise; ♦ give thanks to him and bless his name.
- 4 For the Lord is gracious; his steadfast love is everlasting ♦ and his faithfulness endures from generation to generation.

Glory to the Father and to the Son
and to the Holy Spirit;
as it was in the beginning is now
and shall be for ever. Amen.

Jubilate, ev'rybody (from Psalm 100)

Jubilate, ev'rybody, serve the Lord in all your ways,
and come before his presence singing:
enter now his courts with praise.
For the Lord our God is gracious,
and his mercy everlasting, Jubilate, Jubilate, Jubilate Deo!

Come, rejoice before your maker (from Psalm 100)

Come, rejoice before your maker
All you peoples of the earth;
Serve the Lord your God with gladness,
Come before him with a song!

Know for certain that Jehovah
Is the true and only God:
We are his, for he has made us;
We are sheep within his fold.

Come with grateful hearts before him,
Enter now his courts with praise;
Show your thankfulness towards him,
Give due honour to his name.

For the Lord our God is gracious,
Everlasting in his love;
And to every generation
His great faithfulness endures.

Jubilate (Laudate Dominum)

Refrain:

Laudate Dominum, laudate Dominum, Omnes gentes, alleluia!

(Sing, praise and bless the Lord, sing, praise and bless the Lord, Peoples! Nations! Alleluia!)

Cantor:

We come before you with joyful songs, alleluia, alleluia.
You are our God, you have made us,
 alleluia, alleluia, R

You are our God, we belong to you, alleluia, alleluia,
We are your people, the sheep of your flock,
 alleluia, alleluia, R

Let us then enter your gates with thanksgiving,
 alleluia, alleluia,
Let us give thanks and praise your name, alleluia, alleluia, R

For you are good and your love lasts for ever,
 alleluia, alleluia,
Your faithfulness lasts from age to age, alleluia, alleluia, R

Jubilate (Sing all creation)

Sing all creation, sing to God in gladness!
Joyously serve him, singing hymns of homage!
Chanting his praises, come before his presence!
Praise the Almighty!

Know that our God is Lord of all the ages!
He is our maker, we are all his creatures,
people he fashioned, sheep he leads to pasture!
Praise the Almighty!

Enter his temple, ringing out his praises!
Sing in thanksgiving as you come before him!
Blessing his bounty, glorify his greatness!
Praise the Almighty!

Great in his goodness is the Lord we worship;
steadfast his kindness, love that knows no ending!
Faithful his word is, changeless, everlasting!
Praise the Almighty!

Benedicite – a Song of Creation (shorter version)

- 1 Bless the Lord all you works of the Lord: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.
- 2 Bless the Lord you heavens: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.
- 3 Bless the Lord you angels of the Lord: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.
- 4 Bless the Lord all people on earth: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.
- 5 O people of God bless the Lord: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.
- 6 Bless the Lord you priests of the Lord: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.
- 7 Bless the Lord you servants of the Lord: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.
- 8 Bless the Lord all you of upright spirit: ♦ bless the Lord you that are holy and humble in heart; bless the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit: ♦
sing his praise and exalt him for ever.

Benedicite (Glory to God above)

Refrain:

O sing hallelujah and praise God for evermore!

Glory to God above!
Heavens declare his love;
praise him, you angels,
praise him all you high and heavenly host.
Worship him, sun and moon;
stars, complement their tune:
grounded in God's good purpose
let his grace become your boast. R

Glory to God below
let depths of ocean show;
lightning and hail, snow,
wind and cloud perform at his command!
Let every mountain range,
forest and grove and grange, creatures of earth and air and sea praise God in every land. R

'Glory to God!' now sing commoner, queen and king;
women and men of every age unite to praise the Lord.
Worship God's holy name and let your lives proclaim God's saving power extends to those who love and serve his word. R

Benedicite (Let us sing to the Lord)

Refrain:

*Let us sing to the Lord, let us sing to the Lord!
Let us sing to the Lord, let us sing to the Lord!*

Cantor:

All creation bless the Lord;
and you, angels of the Lord,
praise and glorify the Lord. R

Sun and moon, bless the Lord;
and you, night and day, bless the Lord,
and you, light and darkness, bless the Lord. R

Praise the Lord all the earth.
Birds of the air, bless the Lord,
all creatures of the sea, bless the Lord. R

Christ's coming
D32

Fire and hail, bless the Lord.
Snow and frost, bless the Lord, mountains and hills, bless the Lord. R

Praised be Christ, he is our hope,
he is the joy of our hearts.
Compassionate and gracious is our God. R

The Lord opens up a way,
and leads us on paths of life,
the earth is full of God's love. R

The glory of the Lord fills the earth.
Let all peoples bless God's name,
Let everything that breathes bless the Lord. R

Benedictus (The Song of Zechariah)

Refrain:

*You have raised up for us a mighty Saviour,
born of the house of your servant David.*

- 1 Blessed be the Lord the God of Israel, ♦ who has come to his people and set them free.
- 2 He has raised up for us a mighty Saviour, ♦
born of the house of his servant David.
- 3 Through his holy prophets God promised of old ♦ to save us from our enemies, from the hands of all that hate us,
- 4 To show mercy to our ancestors, ♦
and to remember his holy covenant.
- 5 This was the oath God swore to our father Abraham: ♦ to set us free from the hands of our enemies,
- 6 Free to worship him without fear, ♦ holy and righteous in his sight
all the days of our life.
- 7 And you, child, shall be called the prophet of the Most High, ♦ for you will go before the Lord to prepare his way,
- 8 To give his people knowledge of salvation ♦
by the forgiveness of all their sins.
- 9 In the tender compassion of our God ♦
the dawn from on high shall break upon us,
- 10 To shine on those who dwell in darkness and the shadow of death, ♦
and to guide our feet into the way of peace.

Luke 1.68-79

Glory to the Father and to the Son
and to the Holy Spirit;
as it was in the beginning is now
and shall be for ever. Amen.

*You have raised up for us a mighty Saviour,
born of the house of your servant David.*

Benedictus (Now bless the God of Israel)

Now bless the God of Israel who comes in love and power, who raises from the royal house
deliv'rance in this hour.
Through holy prophets God has sworn to free us from alarm, to save us from the heavy hand
of all who wish us harm.

Remembering the covenant,
God rescues us from fear,
that we might serve in holiness and peace from year to year.
And you, my child, shall go before,
to preach, to prophesy,
that all may know the tender love,
the grace of God most high.

In tender mercy, God will send the dayspring from on high,
Our rising sun, the light of life
for those who sit and sigh.
God comes to guide our way to peace,
that death shall reign no more.
Sing praises to the Holy One,
O worship and adore.

Benedictus (O bless the God of Israel)

O bless the God of Israel, who comes to set us free,
who visits and redeems us
and grants us liberty.
The prophets spoke of mercy,
of rescue and release;
God shall fulfil the promise to bring our people peace.

Now from the house of David a child of grace is given;
a Saviour comes among us
to raise us up to heaven.
Before him goes the herald,
forerunner in the way,
the prophet of salvation,
the messenger of Day.

Where once were fear and darkness the sun begins to rise –
the dawning of forgiveness
upon the sinner's eyes, to guide the feet of pilgrims
along the paths of peace:
O bless our God and Saviour, with songs that never cease!

Benedictus (Blest be the Lord)

Blest be the Lord, the God of Israel,
Who brings the dawn and darkest night dispels,
Who raises up a mighty Saviour from the earth,
Of David's line, a son of royal birth.

The prophets tell a story just begun
Of vanquished foe and glorious victory won,
Of promise made to all who keep the law as guide:
God's faithful love and mercy will abide.

Men:

This is the oath once sworn to Abraham:
All shall be free to dwell upon the land,
Free now to praise, unharmed by the oppressor's rod,
Holy and righteous in the sight of God.

Women:

And you, my child, this day you shall be called
The promised one, the prophet of our God,
For you will go before the Lord to clear the way,
And shepherd all into the light of day.

The tender love God promised from our birth
Is soon to shine upon this shadowed earth,
To shine on those whose sorrows seem to never cease,
To guide our feet into the path of peace.

Refrain:

*You have done great things, O God,
and holy is your name.*

- 1 My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord,
my spirit rejoices in God my Saviour; ♦
he has looked with favour on his lowly servant.
- 2 From this day all generations will call me blessed; ♦ the Almighty has done great things for me and holy is his name.
- 3 He has mercy on those who fear him, ♦ from generation to generation.
- 4 He has shown strength with his arm ♦ and has scattered the proud in their conceit,
- 5 Casting down the mighty from their thrones ♦
and lifting up the lowly.
- 6 He has filled the hungry with good things ♦
and sent the rich away empty.
- 7 He has come to the aid of his servant Israel, ♦
to remember his promise of mercy,

Magnificat (The Song of Mary)

With Mary let my soul rejoice,
And praise God's holy name –
His saving love from first to last,
From age to age the same!

How strong his arm, how great his power!
The proud he will disown;
The meek and humble he exalts
To share his glorious throne.

The rich our God will send away
And feed the hungry poor
The arms of love remain outstretched
At mercy's open door.

So shall God's promise be fulfilled,
To Israel firmly made:
A child is born, a Son is given Whose crown will never fade.

All glory to the Father, Son
And Spirit now proclaim;
With Mary let the world rejoice
And praise God's holy name!

Magnificat (The Song of Mary)

Great is the Lord my soul proclaims, in him my spirit sings for joy;
for he who saves has looked on me with boundless love to raise me high.

Ages to come shall know that I am blessed and favoured by the Lord:
his name is holy, mighty God;
his wondrous power on me is poured.

All those who fear him find his love, in ev'ry age,
in ev'ry land.
His strong right arm puts down the proud,
disperses them like grains of sand.

Down from their thrones he casts the strong,
and raises up the meek of heart.
He gives the hungry choicest food;
in emptiness the rich depart.

Israel, his servant, knows his help in keeping with the promise sworn to Abraham and all his race:
God's love will never be withdrawn.

Glory to God: the Father, Son, and Spirit, Trinity sublime.
All honour, thanks and praise be theirs across the spans of endless time.

Magnificat (The Song of Mary)

My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord.
My spirit sings to God, my saving God,
Who on this day above all others favoured me
And raised me up, a light for all to see.

Through me great deeds will God make manifest,
And all the earth will come to call me blest.
Unbounded love and mercy sure will I proclaim
For all who know and praise God's holy name.

God's mighty arm, protector of the just,
Will guard the weak and raise them from the dust.
But mighty kings will swiftly fall from thrones corrupt.
The strong brought low, the lowly lifted up.

Soon will the poor and hungry of the earth
Be richly blest, be given greater worth.
And Israel, as once foretold to Abraham,
Will live in peace throughout the promised land.

All glory be to God, Creator blest,
To Jesus Christ, God's love made manifest,
And to the Holy Spirit, gentle Comforter,
All glory be, both now and evermore.

creeds and authorized affirmations of faith

E Creeds and Authorized Affirmations of Faith

Stories from the four churches

At St Ann's, after the sermon, the preacher announces a reflective song, and encourages people to use it to make their response to the preaching. She then introduces the Creed as the second part of the response to the sermon. She uses the interrogative form of the Creed from page 143 in Common Worship, pointing out that the sermon was asking direct questions about their faith.

The sermon in St Bartholomew's mentions using the Creed as a symbol of our unity in faith with the worldwide Church through the ages. After a period of silence the president stands and begins the Nicene Creed simply by saying 'We believe in God'. There is no explicit reference back to the sermon, but the intended link is clear.

St Christopher's have recently had some teaching on the Creed. They have used one or two of the seasonal Affirmations of Faith from Common Worship to fit with the teaching subject. One of the points that has been highlighted is the 'doxological' use of the Creed in Eastern churches, to gather together the praise of the congregation. So today the Creed is postponed until after the intercessions, when the choir lead an outburst of praise in a glorious setting of the Nicene Creed.

Meanwhile, in St Dodo's they all sing Merbecke's setting of the Nicene Creed. Unfortunately the choir copies have not been revised, so they sing the original Prayer Book text. The congregation wonder whether they should join in, but are not sure how the melody fits the words. It is marginally better than last Sunday, when the choir had a go at singing the Creed from Schubert's Mass in G. They came a cropper and had to start again – not surprising since some faced east, some sang it as a 'piece' to the congregation, and the remainder looked to one another to try to keep time. On neither occasion could the Creed be said to have fulfilled its function of uniting the church in the faith.

Which creed?

St Christopher's have had a debate about whether to use the Nicene Creed or the Apostles' Creed.

- * The Nicene Creed is traditional in celebrations of Holy Communion and, in contemporary versions, emphasizes the corporate: 'We believe ...';
- * The Apostles' Creed has an individual emphasis, is shorter, and in easier language.

Both St Ann's and St Bartholomew's use the Corporate Renewal of Baptismal Vows (pages 167–169), with the interrogative form of the Apostles' Creed, at Easter and sometimes at New Year. In previous years, the popularity of the corporate renewal of baptismal vows prompted the clergy at St Bartholomew's to use it at almost every opportunity. This led to some objections that it was becoming meaningless, and the more regular pattern of using it only once or twice a year, with appropriate warning and chance for preparation, has left the congregation feeling much happier and valuing it even more.

Suggestions about when Affirmations might be used

- * Affirmation 4 for the Incarnation and Lent.
- * Affirmation 5 for the Resurrection and memorial services.
- * Affirmation 6 for Advent, Trinity and Heaven.
- * Affirmation 2 for the Incarnation and Trinity.

The role of creeds

It is important for our unity in the catholic faith that any creeds used are not private or local compositions, but ones that are recognized by the wider Church. However, in Morning and Evening Prayer and in both Order One and Order Two Holy Communion the Creed may be omitted on weekdays, so omitting it clearly does not make the service invalid in some way! Public recitation of the Creed has not always been an essential part of the Church's worship. A Service of the Word allows for the occasional substitution of one of the Affirmations of Faith (pages 163–166) for the Creed. Some of these are already set to music, and one of them is the specially-commissioned hymn paraphrase of the Apostles' Creed, 'We believe in God the Father' by Timothy Dudley-Smith. There is no provision for the use of any other credal hymn as a substitute, and where one is used on a Sunday it might well follow one of the shorter Affirmations of Faith.

¶ Creeds

At a celebration of Holy Communion, the Apostles' Creed or the Athanasian Creed in an authorized form may be used in place of the Nicene Creed, or an authorized Affirmation of Faith may be used. Suitable words of introduction or conclusion (such as 'Let us declare our faith in God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit') to the Creed or Affirmation of Faith may be used.

The Nicene Creed

E1 All We believe in one God,
the Father, the Almighty,
maker of heaven and earth,
of all that is,
seen and unseen.

We believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ,
the only Son of God,
eternally begotten of the Father,
God from God, Light from Light,
true God from true God,
begotten, not made,
of one Being with the Father;
through him all things were made.

For us and for our salvation he came down from heaven,
was incarnate from the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary
and was made man.

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate;
he suffered death and was buried.

On the third day he rose again
in accordance with the Scriptures;
he ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.

He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead,
and his kingdom will have no end.

We believe in the Holy Spirit,
the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,
who with the Father and the Son is worshipped and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets.

We believe in one holy catholic and apostolic Church.

We acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins.

We look for the resurrection of the dead,
and the life of the world to come.

Amen.

E2

All We believe in one God,
the Father, the Almighty,
maker of heaven and earth,
of all that is,
seen and unseen.

All We believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ,
the only Son of God,
eternally begotten of the Father,
God from God, Light from Light,
true God from true God,
begotten, not made,
of one Being with the Father.

All Through him all things were made.
For us and for our salvation he came down from heaven,
was incarnate from the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary,
and was made man.

All For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate;
he suffered death and was buried.
On the third day he rose again
in accordance with the Scriptures;

All he ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead,
and his kingdom will have no end.

All We believe in the Holy Spirit,
the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son.

All With the Father and the Son he is worshipped and glorified.
He has spoken through the prophets.

All We believe in one holy, catholic and apostolic Church.
We acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins.

All We look for the resurrection of the dead,
and the life of the world to come. Amen.

The text of the Nicene Creed which omits the phrase 'and the Son' in the third paragraph may be used on suitable ecumenical occasions. See Common Worship, page 140.

The other authorized texts of the Nicene Creed are printed in the Order for the Celebration of Holy Communion – Order One (Traditional Language) and Order Two (Common Worship, pages 213 and 234).

The Apostles' Creed

The origin of the Apostles' Creed is the profession of faith made at baptism. This association may have implications for the occasion when it is used at Holy Communion.

- E3 All I believe in God, the Father almighty, creator of heaven and earth.
- I believe in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died, and was buried; he descended to the dead. On the third day he rose again; he ascended into heaven, he is seated at the right hand of the Father, and he will come to judge the living and the dead.
- I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

- E4 All I believe in God the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth:
- And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead and buried. He descended into hell; the third day he rose again from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father almighty; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.
- I believe in the Holy Ghost; the holy catholic Church; the communion of saints; the forgiveness of sins; the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

The Apostles' Creed may also be used in the following form

- E5
- Do you believe and trust in God the Father?
- All* I believe in God, the Father almighty, creator of heaven and earth.
- Do you believe and trust in his Son Jesus Christ?
- All* I believe in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died, and was buried; he descended to the dead. On the third day he rose again; he ascended into heaven, he is seated at the right hand of the Father, and he will come to judge the living and the dead.
- Do you believe and trust in the Holy Spirit?
- All* I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

The Athanasian Creed

The authorized form of the Athanasian Creed is that contained in The Book of Common Prayer.

¶ Authorized Affirmations of Faith

In addition to the Nicene Creed, the Apostles' Creed and the Athanasian Creed, these Affirmations of Faith are also authorized.

- I
- E6
- Do you believe and trust in God the Father, source of all being and life, the one for whom we exist?
- All* We believe and trust in him.
- Do you believe and trust in God the Son, who took our human nature, died for us and rose again?
- All* We believe and trust in him.

Do you believe and trust in God the Holy Spirit, who gives life to the people of God and makes Christ known in the world?

All We believe and trust in him.

This is the faith of the Church.

All This is our faith.

We believe and trust in one God,
Father, Son and Holy Spirit.
Amen.

2

E7 We proclaim the Church's faith in Jesus Christ.

All We believe and declare that our Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is both divine and human.

God, of the being of the Father,
the only Son from before time began;
human from the being of his mother, born in the world;

All fully God and fully human;
human in both mind and body.

As God he is equal to the Father,
as human he is less than the Father.

All Although he is both divine and human he is not two beings but one Christ.

One, not by turning God into flesh,
but by taking humanity into God;

All truly one, not by mixing humanity with Godhead,
but by being one person.

For as mind and body form one human being so the one Christ is both divine and human.

All The Word became flesh and lived among us;
we have seen his glory,
the glory of the only Son from the Father,
full of grace and truth.

from the Athanasian Creed

3

E8 All We believe in God the Father, God almighty, by whose plan earth and heaven sprang to being,
all created things began.
We believe in Christ the Saviour,
Son of God in human frame, virgin-born, the child of Mary upon whom the Spirit came.

Christ, who on the cross forsaken,
like a lamb to slaughter led,

suffered under Pontius Pilate,
he descended to the dead.

We believe in Jesus risen, heaven's king to rule and reign, to the Father's side ascended till as judge he comes again.

We believe in God the Spirit;
in one Church, below, above:
saints of God in one communion,
one in holiness and love.

So by faith, our sins forgiven,
Christ our Saviour, Lord and friend,
we shall rise with him in glory to the life that knows no end.

(May be sung to any 87.87. or 87.87D. tune.)

4

E9 Let us affirm our faith in Jesus Christ the Son of God.

All Though he was divine,
he did not cling to equality with God,
but made himself nothing.
Taking the form of a slave,
he was born in human likeness.
He humbled himself
and was obedient to death,
even the death of the cross.
Therefore God has raised him on high,
and given him the name above every name:
that at the name of Jesus
every knee should bow,
and every voice proclaim that Jesus Christ is Lord,
to the glory of God the Father.

cf Philippians 2.6-11

5

E10 Let us declare our faith in the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ.

All Christ died for our sins
in accordance with the Scriptures;
he was buried;
he was raised to life on the third day
in accordance with the Scriptures;
afterwards he appeared to his followers,
and to all the apostles:
this we have received,
and this we believe.

cf 1 Corinthians 15.3-7

6

E11 We say together in faith

All Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God almighty, who was, and is, and is to come.

We believe in God the Father,
who created all things:

All for by his will they were created and have their being.

We believe in God the Son,
who was slain:

All for with his blood,
he purchased us for God,
from every tribe and language,
from every people and nation.

We believe in God the Holy Spirit:

All the Spirit and the Bride say, 'Come!'
Even so come, Lord Jesus! cf Revelation 4.8, 11; 5.9; 22.17, 20
Amen.

7

E12 Let us declare our faith in God.

All We believe in God the Father, from whom every family
in heaven and on earth is named.

We believe in God the Son,
who lives in our hearts through faith,
and fills us with his love.

We believe in God the Holy Spirit,
who strengthens us
with power from on high.

We believe in one God;
Father, Son and Holy Spirit. cf Ephesians 3
Amen.

¶ A Form for the Corporate Renewal of Baptismal Vows

when celebrated within a service other than Baptism or Confirmation

Notes

- 1 This form should be used only when there has been due notice and proper preparation. It is recommended that it is used no more than once or twice in any one year. Suitable opportunities include Easter, Pentecost, the Baptism of Christ in Epiphany, and the inauguration of a new ministry.
- 2 This form is a corporate affirmation for use within a service. When it is used it replaces the Creed or other Affirmation of Faith.
- 3 Where it is customary for the assembly to be sprinkled with water from the font or to sign themselves with water from the font, this may take place immediately after the Profession of Faith or during a hymn, canticle or song at the conclusion of this form.

A Corporate Renewal of Baptismal Vows

E13 The president may use words of introduction to this part of the service.

A large candle may be lit. The president may address the congregation as follows

In baptism, God calls us out of darkness into his marvellous light. To follow Christ means dying to sin and rising to new life with him. Therefore I ask:

Do you reject the devil and all rebellion against God?

All I reject them.

Do you renounce the deceit and corruption of evil?

All I renounce them.

Do you repent of the sins that separate us from God and neighbour?

All I repent of them.

Do you turn to Christ as Saviour?

All I turn to Christ.

Do you submit to Christ as Lord?

All I submit to Christ.

Do you come to Christ, the way, the truth and the life?

All I come to Christ.

The president may say

May almighty God who has given you the desire to follow Christ give you the strength to continue in the way.

The Profession of Faith

The president addresses the congregation

Brothers and sisters, I ask you to profess the faith of the Church.

Do you believe and trust in God the Father?

All I believe in God, the Father almighty, creator of heaven and earth.

Do you believe and trust in his Son Jesus Christ?

All I believe in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died, and was buried; he descended to the dead. On the third day he rose again; he ascended into heaven, he is seated at the right hand of the Father, and he will come to judge the living and the dead.

Do you believe and trust in the Holy Spirit?

All I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic Church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

The president says

Almighty God, we thank you for our fellowship in the household of faith with all who have been baptized into your name. Keep us faithful to our baptism, and so make us ready for that day when the whole creation shall be made perfect in your Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ.

All Amen.

The president may use the Affirmation of Commitment (E14).

The president concludes the Renewal of Vows saying

May Christ dwell in your hearts through faith, that you may be rooted and grounded in love and bring forth the fruit of the Spirit.

All Amen.

¶ Affirmation of Commitment

E14 This Affirmation of Commitment may be used after an authorized Creed or Affirmation of Faith

Will you continue in the apostles' teaching and fellowship, in the breaking of bread, and in the prayers?

All With the help of God, I will.

Will you persevere in resisting evil and, whenever you fall into sin, repent and return to the Lord?

All With the help of God, I will.

Will you proclaim by word and example the good news of God in Christ?

All With the help of God, I will.

Will you seek and serve Christ in all people, loving your neighbour as yourself?

All With the help of God, I will.

Will you acknowledge Christ's authority over human society, by prayer for the world and its leaders, by defending the weak, and by seeking peace and justice?

All With the help of God, I will.

F Prayers

Stories from the four churches

At St Ann's one of the church leaders comes forward to lead the intercessions, and asks the congregation to mention things to pray for. A series of people say 'Can we pray for ...', usually mentioning things of a fairly personal and practical nature. The leader fits this list of requests into the litany prepared before the service. From the intercession that follows, it is clear that the leader has been awake during the notices and sermon. Both the sermon and the Bible reading on which it was based are clearly reflected in the prayers. St Ann's have tried other variations for the intercessions, and at the all-age service these are sometimes led by a family together (using the microphone for all of them). Once or twice for a special occasion they have used visuals – photographs, video clips and drawings (but with few words) on the data projector – inviting people to have their eyes open as they pray. Occasionally they pray in small groups, which they find a good way of including children in the intercessions. Some have suggested using extempore prayer with the whole congregation free to join in, but the severe difficulties with audibility have ruled this out.

A small group from St Bartholomew's went to a deanery course on praying in public and in private, and came back with a checklist of do's and don'ts (see pages 173–174). Intercessions at Evensong, where the congregation is small, are usually led by the preacher, who can most easily relate the contents of the prayers to the sermon. Recently in the mornings they have been following a pattern using traditional collects, each introduced with a bidding from a different person, followed by silence before the collect. Today, the intercession is based on the Lord's Prayer (in its traditional form), with a pause after each petition, into which another person (with a contrasting voice) inserts appropriate intercessions relating to the petition. Next week they are going to do the same sort of thing with the lesser litany in Evening Prayer. Some of the topics come from the Anglican Cycle of Prayer, so that they get a wider – and international – view of the Church. Since going on the deanery course they have adopted the practice of the intercession leader joining the preacher and whoever is leading the worship in the vestry for prayer before the service.

As you enter St Christopher's today, there are display boards with some posters, newspaper cuttings and pictures which indicate the theme and some of the contents of the intercession. The person leading the intercessions is well prepared, and has arrived in time to look at the requests for prayer pinned on the board by the votive candle stand, and decide how many of these can be included within the Sunday intercessions – not all are suitable! The prayers are led from the centre of the church, among the people. The standard form of response to the intercessions, from New Patterns for Worship, is sung to a Taizé-style chant. The congregation picks up the note and hums it while the intercession leader continues to the next response. This didn't work very well the first time they tried it, but they soon got used to it.

At St Dodo's, the person leading the intercessions says 'Let us pray', but hasn't found the right text, so we hear the pages of New Patterns for Worship turning during the ensuing silence. He begins the responsive intercession for Creation, which unfortunately fits neither the readings nor the mood of the congregation. He forgets to rehearse the response at the start and so has to stop at the first break and say 'When I say ... you should say ...' in a voice which implies that the congregation should have known this all along. He keeps switching between addressing God and addressing the congregation throughout the prayers: 'We really ought to pray for Ann ('Who is she?' half the congregation wonder) especially today because ...' – and more of his views of the circumstances of members of the community follow.

Constructing prayers of intercession

The standard Common Worship pattern, both in Order One and in Order Two (Contemporary), provides a helpful outline covering five areas:

The prayers usually include these concerns and may follow this sequence:

- * The Church of Christ
- * Creation, human society, the Sovereign and those in authority
- * The local community
- * Those who suffer
- * The communion of saints

As Note 15 to Common Worship Holy Communion says, 'Several forms of intercession are provided' (pages 281–287 in Common Worship), but 'other suitable forms may be used. They need not always conform to the sequence indicated.' The forms of intercession in this section are designed as further alternatives to the options in Common Worship, and are also intended as models for those constructing their own prayers. It may help to note the pattern for the response most commonly used here, which is designed to help the congregation to know when to make their response, without needing to have the full text of the prayers in front of them. Two things are of particular help to a congregation:

- * First, making the response unvarying, short and memorable, introduced each time with the same 'cue line'.

- * Second, taking care over how the response and its cue line are introduced to the congregation at the beginning of the prayers. This may be done by saying 'Each section of the prayer concludes [the words of the cue], and the response is [the words of the response]'. For example:

Each section of the prayer concludes 'Lord in your mercy,' and the response is 'hear our prayer':

We pray for all people everywhere.

Lord, in your mercy

hear our prayer.

Another perfectly acceptable way of constructing the prayers is to use a series of short prayers or biddings, followed by silence and one of the congregational endings.

A variety of patterns can be used, for example:

- * bidding – silence – collect or own prayer
- * bidding – set words of one of the litanies – silence – response
- * series of biddings with silences – longer prayer such as that on page 282 of Common Worship.

Whatever pattern is used should be used throughout the Prayers of Intercession. It is important to keep the distinction between biddings (addressed to the congregation) and prayer (addressed directly to God and not referring to him in the third person) and not to slide from one to the other without realizing it.

Other points to note:

- * In planning the prayers section of A Service of the Word, remember that the outline requires that the service should include thanksgiving (and the Lord's Prayer) as well as intercession. Suitable material is provided in Resource Section G on pages 234–257.
- * In some circumstances it may be appropriate for the president to say both the opening invitation and the concluding words such as the collect or other endings.

St Bartholomew's checklist: how to lead the prayers

- * DO read the readings. Sometimes they might be used as a basis for prayer ('Father, thank you for ... [what the verse says]; now please help us to ...').
- * DO discover the main theme of the service: is it based on the readings, the season or day? Ask the preacher if there is something specific to pray for if the prayers follow the preaching.
- * DO find out about particular needs, who is ill or what church meetings or organizations need prayer this week. Watch the news, and vary the way in which international topics are prayed for; DON'T be out of date! But remember also the need for balance and breadth. As Note 15 to Common Worship Holy Communion says, 'the prayers of intercession are normally broadly based, expressing a concern for the whole of God's world and the ministry of the whole Church'.
- * DO be aware of special events like baptisms or when there are large numbers of children or the Town Council present. DON'T focus on them (for example, a group of bereaved people the week after a funeral) in a way which will embarrass them.

- * DO remember what was prayed for last week: should there be thanksgiving for prayer being answered? What other thanksgiving should there be? Again, as Note 15 says, 'intercession frequently arises out of thanksgiving'.
- * DO decide what pattern of intercessions will be best, given what has been discovered and the pattern of the rest of the service (see the section on constructing the prayers of intercession on pages 172–173).
- * DON'T cram so much in that you have to rush.
- * DON'T forget about the need for silences, and how and whether to introduce them.
- * DON'T preach at people ('We pray we may all give generously at Gift Day').
- * DO pray the intercessions out loud before the service, especially if they are home-grown. Watch the speed: will the congregation have time to pray, or be overwhelmed by the variety of images and topics? Will they know when to come in with the response? Is it short enough to remember? Look at the examples in this section.

Collects: stories from the four churches

Today, St Ann's are using A Service of the Word with a Celebration of Holy Communion. They have seen that the rubric in the service shows that they can use the Collect as a summing up prayer which draws together the intercessions and thanksgivings before the service moves on into the Holy Communion. This means that it need not be particularly linked with the readings or the Liturgy of the Word. They have recently been printing it on the notice sheet, so that members of the church can use it at home during the week.

Children in the church school at St Bartholomew's have been learning this week how to write collects. They have used a very simple formula (see page 176) which shows them how to take a verse of Scripture, thank God for something about himself and then pray for something connected with that aspect of God's character. The teacher hopes it will help them in making up their own prayers at home (and the vicar secretly thinks some of the adults would find this a help too!). He recently preached on the prayer of the believers in Acts 4.24-31, pointing out how many lines of the prayer were taken up with telling God how great he was and what he had done, using that as the reason why God should take notice of their request, which was to result in 'wonders and miracles ... through the name of Jesus'. Compare this with the pattern in the 'Collect construction' section on page 176. Four of the children's collects are going to be used in the worship this month.

The vicar and Reader at St Christopher's have been particularly struck recently by how good some of the BCP Collects still sound. They have been using them in less formal settings, in small groups and to open or close meetings, following the pattern: 'Let us pray (for ...)' – silence – collect. They have also used them, where they fit the theme or season of the year, before the final prayer at the Eucharist. The congregation already know three alternative post-communion prayers by heart, so that they can join in from the first phrase of the prayer.

At St Dodo's, the vicar announces the Collect on page 498 of Common Worship as if he intends people to join in with him. He realizes with dismay that this is the traditional version and he had intended to use the modern version. There is quite a silence before the Collect (which is unusual for them) as he gets almost to the right page but then, despite blowing hard at the pages to try to separate them, he gives up the struggle and prays the Collect one page earlier instead, which one or two remember from last week. He also announces that as it is 'St William Tyndale's day' tomorrow, he is going to pray that prayer too. There is another suitably long silence while he fumbles for the page in another book. The congregation are left with the impression that the Collect is just a bit of mumbo jumbo to be got through, rather than contributing to the movement of the worship.

Collect construction

	Ash Wednesday
1 Address: God, you are ... you say ... you do ... / have done ...	Almighty and everlasting God, you hate nothing that you have made and forgive the sins of all those who are penitent:
2 Petition or request: Therefore, Lord, please ...	create and make in us new and contrite hearts
3 Result or reason: So that ...	that we, worthily lamenting our sins and acknowledging our wretchedness, may receive from you, the God of all mercy, perfect remission and forgiveness;
4 Ending:	through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord,

Guidelines on language

These guidelines may help those writing their own material, for collects or intercessions for example, to be on the same level of language as the new writing in New Patterns.

- * Use concrete visual images rather than language which is conceptual and full of ideas.
- * Avoid complicated sentence constructions.
- * If there is a choice, prefer the word with fewer syllables.
- * Address God as 'you'.
- * Keep sentences as short as possible. Use full stops rather than semicolons.
- * Use language which includes women as well as men, black as well as white.
- * Watch the rhythm. The language should be rhythmic and flow easily, but take care not to have a repetitive 'dum-de-dum'.
- * Liturgical language should not be stark or empty. It is not wrong to repeat ideas or say the same thing twice in different words. Cranmer recognized that people need time and repetition to make the liturgy their own: we need to do it without a string of dependent clauses.
- * Be prepared to throw it away after using it, and to do it differently next time.

Notes to the resources

This section includes:

- * Responses for use in prayers of intercession;
- * Alternative endings for the intercessions;
- * Introductions for the Lord's Prayer;
- * Responsive forms of intercession and litanies.

The forms of intercession in this section may replace the intercessions in the Holy Communion, or be used in the prayer section of A Service of the Word, or after the third collect in Morning or Evening Prayer (The Book of Common Prayer) or after the Creed in Morning or Evening Prayer on Sundays. They may also be used at eucharistic or non-eucharistic services on weekdays.

Responses for prayers of intercession

Any suitable response may be used. A selection follows, and more, including some seasonal ones, can be found in Common Worship: Daily Prayer, on page 326. Care should be taken that the response is appropriate for the form of prayer being used and for the concluding prayer (such as, 'Merciful Father, accept these prayers ...'). For instance, if the intercessions address the Father, make sure that the response does not address the Son, and so on.

Responses

- F1 Lord, have mercy.
Lord, have mercy.
- F2 Lord, in your mercy
hear our prayer.
- F3 Hear us,
hear us, good Lord.
- F4 Lord, hear us.
Lord, graciously hear us.
- F5 In faith we pray
we pray to you our God.
- F6 Lord, hear your people and answer our prayers.
- F7 God of love
hear our prayer.
- F8 We pray to the Father.
Hear our prayer.
- F9 Lord, meet us in the silence
and hear our prayer.
- F10 Jesus [or 'Father'], Lord of ...
(life, creation, ... a phrase which can be varied)
in your mercy, hear us.
- F11 Loving God, we look to you.
Receive our prayer.
- F12 Generous God
pour out your love.
- F13 Your kingdom come your will be done.

Sung responses

It can be effective to use a simple sung response during the intercessions. Musicians might be able to set any of the above to music. Examples follow:

Endings for the intercessions

The section about the communion of saints

In any service which includes Holy Communion, the section of the intercessions concerned with the communion of saints may be replaced by one of the following, which provide a weightier ending and point ahead to the communion.

F19

Almighty God,
by your Holy Spirit you have made us one with your saints in heaven and on earth:
grant that in our earthly pilgrimage
we may ever be supported by this fellowship of love and prayer, and know ourselves surrounded by their witness to your power and mercy;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

F20

Bring us all to your heavenly city, to the joyful gathering of thousands of angels,
to the assembly of your firstborn,
to the spirits of good people made perfect,
to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant and to the sprinkled blood that promises peace.
Merciful Father ...

cf Hebrews 12.22-24

F21

Hasten, Lord, the day
when people will come from east and west,
from north and south,
and sit at table in your kingdom
and we shall see your Son in his glory.
Merciful Father ...

cf Luke 13.29

F22

Lord and judge of all, grant to us and to all those who long for your appearing the crown of righteousness on the great day of your coming.
Merciful Father ...

F23 Fill our hunger with the food that lasts,
the bread of God which comes down from heaven and gives life to the world.
Merciful Father ...

cf John 6.33

The congregational ending

The congregational ending for the Common Worship Holy Communion intercessions ('Merciful Father ...') may be replaced by one of the following endings. Further endings may be found at sections 1–4 and 8 on pages 288–9 of Common Worship.

F24 Lord of the Church,
hear our prayer,
and make us one in heart and mind
to serve you with joy for ever.
Amen.

F25 God of mercy,
you know us and love us
and hear our prayer:
keep us in the eternal fellowship of Jesus Christ our Saviour.
Amen.

Introductions to the Lord's Prayer

Whenever the Lord's Prayer is introduced it needs to be clear to the congregation which version is to be used. A full printed text is one way to make this clear. In Common Worship, the modified traditional and modern forms each have a distinctive introduction, to help the congregation to know which one to expect, as follows:

As our Saviour has taught us, so we pray:
Our Father in heaven, (the modern English version)

(or)

Let us pray with confidence as our Saviour has taught us:
Our Father who art in heaven, (the modified traditional version)

Seasonal and thematic prefaces may be added to these introductions, such as

Christ's coming
F26 Awaiting his coming in glory,

Incarnation
F27 Rejoicing in the presence of God here among us,

Church and mission
F28 Seeking the salvation of the world,

Lament
F29 Trusting in the compassion of God,

Cross
F30 Standing at the foot of the cross,

Resurrection
F31 Rejoicing in God's new creation,

Holy Spirit
F32 Being made one by the power of the Spirit,

The introductions which follow here may be used with any form of the Lord's Prayer. If they are used without a full printed text, care should be taken to ensure that the congregation is clear about which form of the Lord's Prayer is to follow.

let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, have mercy.

For this city (or town or village or community), [for ...],
for our neighbours and our friends,
let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, have mercy.

For the good earth which God has given us,
and for the wisdom and will to conserve it,
let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, have mercy.

For the aged and infirm,
for the widowed and orphans,
for the sick and suffering, [for ...] and for all in any need,
let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, have mercy.

For the poor and the oppressed,
for the unemployed and the destitute,
for prisoners and captives,
and for all who remember and care for them,
let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, have mercy.

[For ... let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, have mercy.]

For the dying, for those who mourn [the death of ...],
for the faithful whom we entrust to the Lord in hope,
as we look forward to the day when we share
the fullness of the resurrection,
let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, have mercy.

Rejoicing in the communion of [... and of all] the saints, let us commend ourselves, and one another,
and all our life, to God.

Silence is kept.

For yours is the majesty,
Father, Son, and Holy Spirit;
yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory,
now and for ever.

Amen.

also be suitable. Further examples may be found in Common Worship: Daily Prayer.*

General
F40

Make your ways known upon earth, Lord God, your saving power among all peoples.

Renew your Church in holiness and help us to serve you with joy.

Guide the leaders of this and every nation,
that justice may prevail throughout the world.

Let not the needy be forgotten,
nor the hope of the poor be taken away.

Make us instruments of your peace and let your glory be over all the earth.

General
F41

Blessed are you, eternal God,
to be praised and glorified for ever.

Hear us as we pray for your holy catholic Church:
make us all one, that the world may believe.

Grant that every member of the Church may truly and humbly serve you:
that the life of Christ may be revealed in us.

Strengthen all who minister in Christ's name:
give them courage to proclaim your Gospel.

Inspire and lead those who hold authority in the nations of the world:
guide them in the ways of justice and peace.

Make us alive to the needs of our community:
help us to share each other's joys and burdens.

Look with kindness on our homes and families:
grant that your love may grow in our hearts.

General
Word
F42

Deepen our compassion for all who suffer from sickness, grief or trouble:

in your presence may they find their strength.

We remember those who have died:

Father, into your hands we commend them.

We praise you for all your saints who have entered your eternal glory:

bring us all to share in your heavenly kingdom.

In your glory, Lord, protect us by the power of your name, that we may be one as you are one.

We are in the world but not of it.

Protect us from the evil one.

Give us your word and the full measure of your joy.

Sanctify us by your truth.

May your Spirit unite us in the love and glory of Father and Son.

May we be one that the world may believe.

As you sent your Son into the world so send us, to make your glory known.

cf John 17.11-18

Word
F43

[We pray for strength to follow Jesus.
Saviour, we hear your call.

Help us to follow.]

Jesus said: 'Whoever wishes to be great among you must be your servant.'

Saviour, we hear your call.

Help us to follow.

Jesus said: 'Unless you change and become humble like little children, you can never enter the kingdom of heaven.'

Saviour, we hear your call.

Help us to follow.

Jesus said: 'Happy are the humble;
they will receive what God has promised.'

Saviour, we hear your call.

Help us to follow.

Jesus said: 'Be merciful as your Father is merciful;
love your enemies and do good to them.'

Saviour, we hear your call.

Help us to follow.

Jesus said: 'Love one another, as I love you;
there is no greater love than this,
to lay down your life for your friends.'
Saviour, we hear your call.

Help us to follow.

Jesus said: 'Go to people everywhere
and make them my disciples, and I will be with you always, to the end of time.'
Saviour, we hear your call.

Help us to follow.

God of mercy,
you know us and love us
and hear our prayer:
keep us in the eternal fellowship of Jesus Christ our Saviour.
Amen.

Gracious God, fountain of all wisdom,
we pray for all Christian people;
for Bishop N, for all Christian leaders,
and for those who teach and guard the faith ...
May the word of Christ dwell richly in our hearts,
and knit us together in the bond of your love.
Hear us.

Hear us, good Lord.

We pray for the leaders of the nations,
and for those in authority under them ...
Give them the gift of your wisdom,
and a right discernment in all things.
Hear us.

Hear us, good Lord.

We pray for our ... (city/town/village/community);
for those who live and work here,
and for those who visit this place ...
Speak your word of peace in our midst,
and help us to serve one another as Christ has served us.
Hear us.

Hear us, good Lord.

We pray for those who do not believe,
and yet who long to know you, the very Word of life ...
Open their ears to hear your voice, and open their hearts to the knowledge of your love in Christ.

Hear us.

Hear us, good Lord.

We pray for those bowed down with grief,
fear or sickness,
especially ...
May your living Word bring comfort and healing to all those in need.

Hear us.

Hear us, good Lord.

We give thanks for all those who have died in the faith of Christ
and we rejoice with [N and] all your saints, trusting in the promise of your word fulfilled.
Lord of life,
hear our prayer,
and make us one in heart and mind
to serve you with joy for ever.
Amen.

General (evening)
F46

[We pray to the Lord.
In faith we pray.
We pray to you our God.]

That the rest of this day may be holy, peaceful and full of your presence;
in faith we pray.

We pray to you our God.

That the work we have done and the people we have met today may bring us closer to you;
in faith we pray.

We pray to you our God.

[That we may be forgiven our sins and failures;
in faith we pray.

We pray to you our God.]

That we may hear and respond to your call to peace and justice;
in faith we pray.

We pray to you our God.

That you will sustain the faith and hope of those who are lonely, oppressed and anxious;
in faith we pray.

We pray to you our God.

That you will strengthen us in your service,
and fill our hearts with longing for your kingdom;
in faith we pray.

We pray to you our God.

God of mercy,
you know us and love us
and hear our prayer:
keep us in the eternal fellowship of Jesus Christ our Saviour.
Amen.

God in creation
F47

[Let us pray to God,
that he will bring to fruition all that he desires for his creation.

Father, Lord of creation,
in your mercy, hear us.]

You have created the universe by your eternal Word, and have blessed humankind in making us stewards of the earth.

We pray for your world,
that we may share and conserve its resources,
and live in reverence for the creation and in harmony with one another.

Father, Lord of creation,
in your mercy, hear us.

You have given the human race a rich land,
a land of streams and springs,
wheat and barley,
vines and oil and honey.

We have made by sin a world of suffering and sorrow.
We pray for those who bear the weight of affliction, that they may come to share the life of wholeness and plenty.

Father, Lord of creation,
in your mercy, hear us.

In Christ you call us to a new way of life,
loving our neighbours before ourselves.
Help us to treat with care and respect the world as it is as we live in hope and anticipation of the world as it will be

when your kingdom comes and your will is done.

Thank you for those, living and departed, who have shown a true respect for your creation ...

Help us to follow in their footsteps,
until, with them, we see you face to face,
where all is made new in Christ our Lord.

Merciful Father,
accept these prayers for the sake of your Son
our Saviour Jesus Christ.
Amen.

O God our creator,
whose good earth is entrusted to our care
and delight and tenderness,
we pray:

May those who sow in tears
reap with shouts of joy.

For all who are in captivity to debt, whose lives are cramped by fear from which there is no turning except through abundant harvest.
May those who sow in tears
reap with shouts of joy.

For all who depend on the earth for their daily food and fuel, whose forests are destroyed
for the profits of a few.
May those who sow in tears
reap with shouts of joy.

For all who labour in poverty,
who are oppressed by unjust laws,
who are banned for speaking the truth,
who long for a harvest of justice.
May those who sow in tears
reap with shouts of joy.

For all who are in captivity to greed and waste and boredom, whose harvest joy is choked with things they do not need.
May those who sow in tears
reap with shouts of joy.

Turn us again from our captivity
and restore our vision, that our mouth may be filled with laughter
and our tongue with singing.
Amen.

Let us pray for our own needs and for the needs of others, following the pattern which Jesus gave when he taught us to pray to God our Father.

Through our love of the countryside,
through our care for animals,
through our respect for property and tools:
Father, hallowed be your name.

On our farms and in our homes,
in our colleges and schools,
where machinery is made,
and where policy is planned:
Father, your kingdom come.

By our seeking your guidance,
by our keeping your commandments,
by our living true to our consciences:
Father, your will be done.

For the millions who live in poverty and hunger, for our own needs, and the requirements of our neighbours,
by cooperation, sympathy and generosity:
give us today our daily bread.

Because we have broken your commandments, doing what we ought not to do and neglecting what we ought to do:
forgive us our sins.

If any have injured us by injustice, double dealing or exploitation:
we forgive those who sin against us.

When prosperity lulls us to false security,
or hard times prompt us to despair,
When success makes us boastful,
or failure makes us bitter:
lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.

In the assurance of faith,
in the confidence of hope,
in the will to serve,
help us to love Christ as Lord,
and our neighbour as ourselves.
for the kingdom, the power,
and the glory are yours,
now and for ever.
Amen.

Christ's coming
F50

[In joyful expectation of his coming we pray to Jesus, saying,
Maranatha.*

Amen. Come, Lord Jesus.]

Come to your Church as Lord and Judge.

We pray for ...

Help us to live in the light of your coming and give us a longing for your kingdom.

Maranatha.

Amen. Come, Lord Jesus.

Come to your world as King of the nations.

We pray for ...

Before you rulers will stand in silence.

Maranatha.

Amen. Come, Lord Jesus.

Come to your people with a message of victory and peace.

We pray for ...

Give us the victory over death, temptation and evil.

Maranatha.

Amen. Come, Lord Jesus.

Come to us as Saviour and Comforter.

We pray for ...

Break into our lives,
where we struggle with sickness and distress,
and set us free to serve you for ever.

Maranatha.

Amen. Come, Lord Jesus.

Come to us from heaven, Lord Jesus, with power and great glory.

Lift us up to meet you,
with [N and] all your saints and angels,
to live with you for ever.

Maranatha.

Amen. Come, Lord Jesus.

This Aramaic word is traditionally translated, 'Our Lord, come.'*

Christ's coming
F51

Short biddings are offered in the form

To [the suffering; the sick; those in authority;
Mrs Smith in hospital; etc.] ...

The response is used each time

Come, Lord Jesus.

The response can be varied to suit the season

Come Holy Spirit; Come risen Lord; etc.

These can easily be used with children present and, after a series of biddings led by the president, further biddings could be encouraged from the congregation, and a suitable collect used at the end.

Incarnation
F52

Christ, for whom there was no room in the inn,
give courage to all who are homeless;
in your mercy

hear our prayer.

Christ, who fled into Egypt,
give comfort to all refugees;
in your mercy

hear our prayer.

Christ, who fasted in the desert,
give relief to all who are starving;
in your mercy

hear our prayer.

Christ, who hung in agony on the cross,
give strength to all who suffer;
in your mercy

hear our prayer.

Christ, who died to save us,
give peace to all who seek pardon.
Lord of the Church

hear our prayer,
and make us one in heart and mind
to serve you with joy for ever.
Amen.

Incarnation
F53

Christ, born in a stable,
give courage to all who are homeless:
Jesus, Saviour,
hear our prayer.

Christ, for whom the angels sang,
give the song of the kingdom to all who weep:
Jesus, Saviour,
hear our prayer.

Christ, worshipped by the shepherds,
give peace on earth to all who are oppressed:
Jesus, Saviour,
hear our prayer.

Christ, before whom the wise men knelt,
give humility and wisdom to all who govern:
Jesus, Saviour,
hear our prayer.

Christ, whose radiance filled a lowly manger,
give the glory of your resurrection to all who rest in you:
Jesus, Saviour,
hear our prayer.

Lord Jesus Christ,
Son of the Father,
full of the Spirit,
hear our prayer,
receive our praises,
fill our lives.
Amen.

Incarnation
F54

Unto us a child is born, unto us a Son is given.
Let us offer our prayers for the needs of the world.

Wonderful Counsellor, give your wisdom to the rulers of the nations ...
Lord, in your mercy
hear our prayer.

Mighty God,
make the whole world know that the government is on your shoulders ...
Lord, in your mercy
hear our prayer.

Everlasting Father, establish your reign of justice and righteousness for ever ...
Lord, in your mercy
hear our prayer.

Prince of Peace,
bring in the endless kingdom of your peace ...
Lord, in your mercy
hear our prayer.

Lord of the Church,
hear our prayer,
and make us one in heart and mind
to serve you with joy for ever.
Amen.

cf Isaiah 9.6

Incarnation
F55

The phrase 'in this holy night' makes this prayer particularly appropriate for use on Christmas Eve during the night. With the omission of this phrase (or its replacement with 'at this holy time') it is suitable for use on other occasions during the Christmas season.

Father, [in this holy night] your Son our Saviour was born as a child among us.
Renew your Church as the Body of Christ.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

[In this holy night] there was no room for your Son in the inn.
Protect with your love those who have no home
and all who live in poverty.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

[In this holy night] Mary, in the pain of labour, brought your Son to birth.
Hold in your hand [... and] all who are in pain or distress.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

[In this holy night] your Christ came as a light shining in the darkness.
Bring comfort to [... and] all who suffer
in the sadness of our world.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

[In this holy night] the angels sang
'Peace to God's people on earth'.
Strengthen those who work for peace and justice in [... and in] all the world.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

[In this holy night] shepherds in the field heard good tidings of joy.
Give us grace to preach the gospel of Christ's redemption.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

[In this holy night] heaven is come down to earth,
and earth is raised to heaven.
Keep in safety [... and] all those who have passed through death in the hope of heaven.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

[In this holy night] Christians the world over celebrate his birth.
Open our hearts that he may be born in us today.
Holy God
hear our prayer.

Father, [in this holy night] angels and shepherds worshipped at the manger throne.
Receive the worship we offer in fellowship with Mary,
Joseph and the saints
through him who is your Word made flesh,
our Saviour Jesus Christ.
Amen.

Incarnation
F56

These intercessions are particularly appropriate for use when small children are present. The prayer should be very simple, if possible drawing from the children the subjects for intercession.

Jesus, born in a human family:
we pray for ... (families)
Lord Jesus,
hear our prayer.

Jesus, cradled in a manger:
we pray for ... (homeless, refugees)
Lord Jesus,
hear our prayer.

Jesus, sharing the stable with the animals:
we pray for ... (the creation)
Lord Jesus,
hear our prayer.

Jesus, worshipped by shepherds and kings:
we pray for ... (nations, races, peoples)
Lord Jesus,
hear our prayer.

Incarnation
F57

Jesus, our Emmanuel:
we pray for ... (those in particular need) Lord Jesus,
hear our prayer.

[Let us pray to the Lord.
Lord, come to your people.
In your mercy set us free.]

The following, bracketed, section may be omitted in Epiphany.

[Unlooked for,
Christ comes.

To shepherds,
watching their sheep through the long, dark night,
he comes with the glory of the angels' song and in the humility of the manger.

Silence

Loving God, we pray for our community ...
In the midst of our everyday lives, surprise us with glimpses of your glorious, humble love,
at the heart of existence.

Lord, come to your people.
In your mercy set us free.]

Searched for,
Christ comes.

To the wise and powerful,
star-led to Bethlehem, seeking a king,
he comes, child of Mary,
crowned with meekness,
worthy of every gift.

Silence

Loving God, we pray for the leaders of the world ...
Guide them with your light to seek wisdom, justice and peace.

Lord, come to your people.
In your mercy set us free.

Longed for,
Christ comes.

To Anna and Simeon,
whose days are lived in faithful expectation,
he comes, a new life to the old,
a living prophecy of hope.

Silence

Loving God, we pray for the Church in all the world ...
 Unite us by your Spirit,
 and make us faithful witnesses to the hope we have in you.

Lord, come to your people.
In your mercy set us free.

Prayed for,
 Christ comes.

To men and women, girls and boys,
 crying out in darkness, pain and loneliness,
 he comes, at one with us,
 our Saviour, healer and friend.

Silence

Loving God, we pray for those whose lives are hard and painful
 or whose existence is sorrowful, bitter or empty ...
 In their need, may they know your healing touch, reaching out to comfort, strengthen and restore.

Lord, come to your people.
In your mercy set us free.

[Unlooked for and not searched for,] longed for and prayed for, loving God, you come to us now
 as you have come to your people in every age.
 We thank you for all who have reflected the light of Christ.

Help us to follow their example and bring us with them to eternal life;
 through Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

Incarnation
F58

Let us worship the Saviour with joy and make our prayer to our heavenly Father.

The magi came from the east to worship your Son:
 Father, grant to Christians everywhere
 the spirit of adoration ...
 Lord of glory,
hear our prayer.

The infant Christ received gifts of gold, incense and myrrh:
 Father, accept the offering of our hearts and minds
 [at the beginning of this year] ...
 Lord of glory,
hear our prayer.

Cross
F59

The kingdoms of this world have become the kingdom of our God and of his Christ:
 Father, grant an abundance of peace to your world ...
 Lord of glory,
hear our prayer.

The Holy Family lived in exile and in the shadow of death:
 Father, look in mercy on all who are poor and powerless,
 and all who suffer ...
 Lord of glory,
hear our prayer.

Your Son shared the life of his home and family
 at Nazareth:
 Father, protect in your love our neighbours,
 our families and this community of which we are a part ...
 Lord of glory,
hear our prayer.

Rejoicing in fellowship with the shepherds, the angels, the magi, the Virgin Mary, Saint Joseph and all the faithful departed, we commend ourselves and all people to your unfailing love.
 Merciful Father, ...

*If this prayer is used as a meditation or Holy Week intercession, the silence comes best after the first line in each section, as here; if it is used as a Sunday intercession, it may come better before 'Lord, hear us', where particular requests may be inserted. This is an example of a set of intercessions which would be suitable for two people with contrasting voices:
 one to read the first part of each bidding and the other to lead the part after the silence.*

[Let us pray to the Father, who loved the world so much that he sent his only Son to give us life.]

Simon from Cyrene was forced to carry the cross for your Son.

Silence

Give us grace to lift heavy loads from those we meet and to stand with those condemned to die.
 Lord, hear us.
Lord, graciously hear us.

Your Son watched the soldiers gamble to share his clothes.

Silence

Transform the hearts of those who make a profit from their victims,
and those whose hearts are hardened by their work.
Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

The thief, who was crucified with Jesus, was promised a place in your kingdom.

Silence

Give pardon and hope, healing and peace to all who look death in the face.

Lord, hear us:

Lord, graciously hear us.

From the cross, Jesus entrusted Mary his mother and John his disciple to each other's care.

Silence

Help us also to care for one another and fill our homes with the spirit of your love.

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

The centurion was astonished to recognize your glory
in the crucified Messiah.

Silence

Open the minds of those who do not know you to grasp in your Son the meaning of life and death.

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Joseph of Arimathea came to take your Son's body away.

Silence

Give hope and faith to the dying and bereaved, gentleness to those who minister to them,
and courage to those whose faith is secret.

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Simon and Joseph, Mary and John, became part of the life of your Church in Jerusalem.
Bring into your Church today a varied company of people,
to walk with Christ in the way of his passion, and to find their salvation in the victory of his cross.

Lord of the Church:

hear our prayer,
and make us one in heart and mind
to serve you with joy for ever.

Amen.

Resurrection

F60

In joy and hope we pray.

We pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

That our risen Saviour may fill us with the joy of his glorious and life-giving resurrection ...

we pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

That isolated and persecuted churches

may find fresh strength in the good news of Easter ...

we pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

That God may grant us humility to be subject to one another in Christian love ...

we pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

That he may provide for those who lack food,

work, or shelter ...

we pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

That by his power war and famine may cease through all the world ...

we pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

That he may reveal the light of his presence to the sick,
the weak and the dying,

to comfort and strengthen them ...

we pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

That he may send the fire of the Holy Spirit upon his people,

so that we may bear faithful witness to his resurrection,

we pray to the Father.

Hear our prayer.

Resurrection

Ascension

F61

Jesus our exalted Lord has been given all authority.

Let us seek his intercession that our prayers may be perfected by his prayer.

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Jesus Christ, great high priest,

living for ever to intercede for us,

pray for the Church, your broken body in the world ...

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Jesus Christ, king of righteousness, enthroned at the right hand of the majesty on high, pray for the world, and make it subject to your gentle rule ...

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Jesus Christ, Son of Man,
drawing humanity into the life of God,
pray for your brothers and sisters in need,
distress or sorrow ...

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Jesus Christ, pioneer of our salvation, bringing us to glory through your death and resurrection, surround with your saints and angels
those who have died trusting your promises ...

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Jesus Christ, Lord over all things, ascended far above the heavens and filling the universe, pray for us who receive the gifts you give us for work in your service ...

Lord, hear us.

Lord, graciously hear us.

Jesus Christ,
keep the Church in the unity of the Spirit
and in the bond of peace, and bring the whole created order
to worship at your feet;
for you are alive and reign with the Father
and the Holy Spirit,
one God, now and for ever.

Amen.

Holy Spirit
F62

[We pray to God the Holy Spirit.

Holy Spirit, come upon us.]

Come, Holy Spirit, creator, and renew the earth.

Holy Spirit, come upon us.

Come, Holy Spirit, counsellor, and touch our lips that we may proclaim your word.

Holy Spirit, come upon us.

Come, Holy Spirit, power from on high.
make us channels of peace and ministers of healing:

Holy Spirit, come upon us.

Holy Spirit
Relationships and healing
F63

Come, Holy Spirit, breath of God, give life to the dry bones around us,
and make us a living people, holy and free.

Holy Spirit, come upon us.

Come, Holy Spirit, wisdom and truth;
strengthen us to be bold in faith.

Holy Spirit, come upon us.

[We pray for God to fill us with his Spirit.

Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.]

Generous God, we thank you for the power of your Holy Spirit.

We ask that we may be strengthened to serve you better.

Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

We thank you for the wisdom of your Holy Spirit.
We ask you to make us wise to understand your will.

Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

We thank you for the peace of your Holy Spirit.

We ask you to keep us confident of your love,
wherever you call us.

Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

We thank you for the healing of your Holy Spirit.

We ask you to bring reconciliation and wholeness where there is division, sickness and sorrow.

Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

We thank you for the gifts of your Holy Spirit.

We ask you to equip us for the work which you have given us.

Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

We thank you for the fruit of your Holy Spirit.

We ask you to reveal in our lives the love of Jesus.
Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

We thank you for the breath of your Holy Spirit,
given by the risen Lord.

We ask you to keep the whole Church,
living and departed,
in the joy of eternal life.

Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

Generous God,
 you sent your Holy Spirit upon your Messiah
 at the River Jordan,
 and upon the disciples in the upper room.
 In your mercy fill us with your Spirit.
Hear our prayer,
 and make us one in heart and mind
 to serve you with joy for ever.
 Amen.

*Holy Spirit
 Living in the world*
F64

[We pray that God's Holy Spirit may direct our lives.
 Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.]

'The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy and peace.'
 Father, we know that your world needs love and harmony.
 Lord, come to bless us.

Fill us with your Spirit.

'The fruit of the Spirit is patience, kindness and goodness.'
 Father, we know that our world is starved of love and care.

Church and mission
F65

[We pray that Christ may be seen in the life of the Church.
 Jesus, Lord of the Church,

in your mercy, hear us.]

You have called us into the family of those who are the children of God.

May our love for our brothers and sisters be strengthened by your grace.

Jesus, Lord of the Church,

in your mercy, hear us.

You have called us to be a temple where the Holy Spirit can dwell.
 Give us clean hands and pure hearts,
 so that our lives will reflect your holiness.
 Jesus, Lord of the Church,
in your mercy, hear us.

You have called us to be a light to the world,
 so that those in darkness come to you.
 May our lives shine
 as a witness to the saving grace you have given for all.
 Jesus, Lord of the Church,
in your mercy, hear us.

You have called us to be members of your body,
 so that when one suffers, all suffer together.
 We ask for your comfort and healing power to bring hope to those in distress.
 Jesus, Lord of the Church,
in your mercy, hear us.

You have called us to be the Bride,
 where you, Lord, are the Bridegroom.
 Prepare us for the wedding feast,
 where we will be united with you for ever.
 Jesus, Lord of the Church,
hear our prayer,
 and make us one in heart and mind
 to serve you with joy for ever.
 Amen.

G Praise and Thanksgiving

Stories from the four churches

St Ann's Evening Praise replaced Evening Prayer some years ago when people were looking for something much freer in their worship. The service this evening includes some teaching in preparation for an evangelistic event in a few weeks' time, and is punctuated at intervals by one of the acclamations:

Christ in you, the hope of glory:
this is the gospel we proclaim.

A Service of the Word provides the structure which holds everything together, including some dance to the psalm, interviews with a couple just moving to a new job and wanting to thank the congregation for their support, some praise songs and a time of extempore thanksgiving. The service moves to a climax of sung and spoken praise using one of the longer Thanksgivings, ending with the Sanctus. Other things they have used at the climax of the service have been traditional sung texts like the Te Deum and the Gloria, and the first section of one of the Eucharistic Prayers, ending with the Sanctus.

The Worship Planning Group at St Bartholomew's are leading worship based on Evening Prayer on Sunday from Common Worship. They have been grappling with the problem – and opportunity – of how to deal with the Advent theme of heaven, when one of the older people in the village has just died. While preparing for the funeral they came across the thematic material for a vigil on pages 247–252 of Common Worship: Pastoral Services and decided to use the psalm (116), with its psalm prayer ('We walk through eternity in your presence'), and the canticle 'A Song of the Justified' from Romans 4 and 5, concluding with the Prayers of Thanksgiving from the Memorial Service (Pastoral Services, page 340) and one of the Resurrection Thanksgivings (G38 below) as an alternative Thanksgiving section for the end of Evening Prayer. At the end of the service there is an almost tangible silence as people feel they have been caught up to heaven and are reluctant to come back to earth again.

The Eucharist at St Christopher's today uses two items from this section of New Patterns. The theme is justification by faith, using the first of the two lectionary modules from Romans (pages 119–120 above). They have been using the acclamation there ('I am not ashamed of the gospel ...') for the last two weeks, and today they use one of the responsive acclamations on this theme (G45) as a Gospel acclamation, and one of the Thanksgivings (G75) replaces the preface in Eucharistic Prayer E. The clergy have read Note 18 to Common Worship Holy Communion, which says that Extended Prefaces may be used with Eucharistic prayers A, B and E for Order One and that they replace the entire text between the opening dialogue and the Sanctus.

The St Dodo's Praise Service has no apparent structure at all – and so, one or two people say, must be led by the Spirit. There is little content, with only one of the lectionary readings (irrelevant to the theme of praise) and the sermon is replaced by long introductions by four different people to four of the hymns. People in the congregation are encouraged to suggest items to give thanks for or to sing (sometimes without the congregation having the words because it is assumed everyone knows them), with the inevitable result that there is no development in the service and no one quite knows when it should come to an end. But a liturgical structure used without preparation can produce equally bad results. Last week the president got a bit lost in Eucharistic Prayer E, used a Short Preface rather than an extended one, with the result that no one knew when to come in with 'Holy, holy ...'

Notes to the resources

Acclamations and praise responses

Where to use them

These may be used

- * at the beginning of the service;
- * at the end of worship;
- * after a reading; or
- * acclamations may be repeated at various points in a service as a reminder of the theme.

Finding some more

There are more acclamations and responses in the Gathering and Greeting section.

See the Lectionary modules in Resource Section C for some specific acclamations which relate to the readings there.

Further appropriate forms can be devised locally. The key principles in constructing your own are:

- * look at the readings for the service and especially the psalm as a possible source for words and ideas;
- * keep the length of sentences short (especially for the congregation's part);

- * match the length of the response to the length of the leader's text;
- * take care over words that people may not be sure how to pronounce in the congregation's text (even something like 'blessed' can cause uncertainty).

Songs

Some of the praise responses are suitable for saying or singing together, rather than in responsive form. These are marked with an asterisk*.

Thanksgivings

- * These may be used at any suitable point in A Service of the Word, but they are particularly appropriate for use as the climax to the service or part of the response to the Liturgy of the Word.
- * They may also be used as a proper preface in the Eucharistic Prayer: in this case, the introduction 'Father, we give you thanks and praise through Jesus Christ our Lord' should be used only where indicated.
- * The Benedictus qui venit ('Blessed is he who comes ...') may be added to the Sanctus in any of these thanksgivings where it is not printed.
- * If it is desired to shorten the Thanksgivings, the lines in brackets may be omitted.
- * If the Preface is specially composed, the president says, 'And now we give you thanks ...' and then offers brief thanksgivings in the form 'We thank you that ...' or similar words. They normally include thanksgiving for
 - * creation;
 - * redemption;
 - * the continuing work of the Spirit.
- * They should not conclude with 'Amen'. The president concludes by saying 'Therefore with angels and archangels ...' (Prayers A, B and C)

(or)

 'And so we gladly thank you, with saints and angels ...' (Prayer E) Eucharistic Prayers D, G and H are not suitable for this approach.

Short Prefaces

These short seasonal or thematic Prefaces are for use at the appropriate points in any authorized Eucharistic Prayer on suitable occasions. They may be inserted in Prayers A, B and C in Order One and, suitably amended, in both prayers in Order One in Traditional Language. They may also be used (suitably amended: see Note 28 to the Common Worship services of Holy Communion) with Order Two and Order Two in Contemporary Language.

G29

I bring you good news of great joy:
a Saviour has been born to you. Alleluia.
Unto us a child is born, a Son is given. Alleluia.

Incarnation
G30

This may be used on Christmas Day with G67 below, or as a Greeting.

Today [This night/day] Christ is born:
Alleluia.

Today [This night/day] the Saviour comes:
Alleluia.

Today [This night/day] the angels sing on earth:
Alleluia. Glory to God in the highest.

Incarnation
G31

The glory of the Lord has been revealed and all flesh shall see it together.

[A candle may be lit.]

Jesus Christ is the light of the world,
a light no darkness can quench.

The shepherds kept watch by night and your glory shone around them.

The darkness is not dark to you,
the night is as bright as the day.

Let your light scatter the darkness and fill your Church with your glory.

Incarnation
G32

'Do I not fill heaven and earth?' says the Lord.
Now the Word is made flesh and laid in a narrow manger.
From eternity to eternity you are God,
and now we see you as a newborn child.

Incarnation
G33

The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light.
For to us a child is born,
to us a Son is given.
His name will be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God,
the Everlasting Father,
the Prince of Peace.
Glory to God in the highest and peace to his people on earth.

Incarnation
G34

This may be used with G52 below.

The Word of life which was from the beginning
we proclaim to you.
The darkness is passing away
and the true light is already shining;
the Word of life which was from the beginning.
That which we heard, which we saw with our eyes,
and touched with our hands,
we proclaim to you.
For our fellowship is with the Father,
and with his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.
The Word of life which was from the beginning
we proclaim to you.

G37

Alleluia. Christ is risen.
He is risen indeed. Alleluia.
Praise the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
He has given us new life and hope.
He has raised Jesus from the dead.
God has claimed us as his own.
He has brought us out of darkness.
He has made us light to the world.
Alleluia. Christ is risen.
He is risen indeed. Alleluia.

Resurrection
G38

Alleluia. Christ is risen.
He is risen indeed. Alleluia.
Blessed are those who have not seen him and yet have believed.
He is our Lord and our God.
We have seen his glory,
the glory which he had as the Father's only Son,
full of grace and truth.
The Lord says to us, 'Do you love me?'
Our hearts reply, 'You know that we love you.'
Jesus says, 'Whoever comes to me shall never hunger.'
Whoever believes in me shall never thirst.'
This is the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world.
Jesus is the resurrection and the life:
those who believe in him shall never die.
Yes! Christ is risen.
He is risen indeed. Alleluia.

Ascension
G39

[Christ has gone up on high.

This may be used with G41 above.

There is one body, one Spirit, one hope in God's call,
one Lord, one faith, one baptism.
There is one God, Father of all, over all and in all,
to whom Christ ascended on high.
And through his Spirit he gives us gifts:
some are apostles, some are his prophets.

Almighty God, Father of all mercies, we your unworthy servants give you most humble and hearty thanks
for all your goodness and loving kindness.
We bless you for our creation, preservation, and all the blessings of this life;
but above all for your immeasurable love in the redemption of the world by our Lord Jesus Christ, for the means of grace, and for the hope of glory.
And give us, we pray, such a sense of all your mercies that our hearts may be unfeignedly thankful, and that we show forth your praise,
not only with our lips but in our lives,
by giving up ourselves to your service, and by walking before you in holiness and righteousness all our days;
through Jesus Christ our Lord,
to whom, with you and the Holy Spirit,
be all honour and glory,
for ever and ever.
Amen.

Glory to the Father, the God of love,
who created us;
who continually preserves and sustains us;
who has loved us with an everlasting love,
and given us the light of the knowledge of his glory
in the face of Jesus Christ.
Blessed be God for ever.
Glory to Jesus Christ our Saviour, who, though he was rich,
yet for our sake became poor,
and was tested in every way as we are,
yet without sin;
who proclaimed the good news of the kingdom,
and was obedient to the point of death,
even death on a cross;
who was raised from the dead and is alive for ever,
and has opened the kingdom of heaven
to all who trust in him;
who is seated at God's right hand in glory,
and will come to be our judge.
Blessed be God for ever.

General
G59

Glory to the Holy Spirit,
the Lord, the giver of life,
by whom we are born into the family of God,
and made members of the body of Christ;
whose witness confirms us;
whose wisdom teaches us;
whose power enables us:
who will do for us more than we can ask or think.
Blessed be God for ever.
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Let us give thanks to God.

For the love of our Father, the maker of all,
the giver of all good things,
let us bless the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

For Jesus Christ our Saviour, who lived and worked among us,
let us bless the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

For his suffering and death on the cross and his resurrection to new life,
let us bless the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

For his rule over all things and his presence in the world,
let us bless the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

For the Holy Spirit, the giver of life,
who teaches and guides us,
let us bless the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

For the grace of the Spirit in the work of the Church and the life of the world,
let us bless the Lord.

Thanks be to God.
Amen.

Cross Lament
G74

Blessed are you, Lord our God:
through your Son Jesus Christ
you have known our pain and show us your mercy.

Surely he has borne our griefs;
he has carried our sorrows.
Surely he has borne our griefs;
he has carried our sorrows.

He was despised, he was rejected;
a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief.
Surely he has borne our griefs;
he has carried our sorrows.

He was pierced for our sins,
bruised for no fault but ours.
Surely he has borne our griefs;
he has carried our sorrows.

His punishment has bought our peace,
and by his wounds we are healed.
Surely he has borne our griefs;
he has carried our sorrows.

We had all strayed like sheep,
but the Lord has laid on him the guilt of us all.
Surely he has borne our griefs;
he has carried our sorrows.

So, with angels and archangels and all the company of heaven, we praise you for ever, saying:
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

cf Isaiah 53

Cross
G75

Thanks and praise be to you, almighty God.
You justify us through faith and give us peace in our Lord Jesus Christ.

Through faith
we are saved by grace.

Through him you brought us by faith into this experience of grace in which we live, where we rejoice in the hope of sharing your glory.

Through faith
we are saved by grace.

Not only so, but we also rejoice in our sufferings,
because we know that suffering produces perseverance;
perseverance, character; and character, hope.

Through faith
we are saved by grace.

And hope does not disappoint us,
because you have poured out your love into our hearts by the Holy Spirit.

Through faith
we are saved by grace.

You show us how much you love us:
while we were helpless, Christ died for the ungodly;
while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.

Through faith
we are saved by grace.

And through faith we stand in heaven and worship you with angels and archangels, saying:
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Cross
G76

Father, you loved the world so much that you sent your only Son to die that we might live through him.
For his words from the cross,
we bring you thanks and praise:

‘Forgive them ...’
He forgave in the face of bitter hatred.
We give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

‘Today you shall be with me in paradise.’
He promised heaven to the forgiven sinner.
We give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

‘Mother, behold your Son ...’
He loved his Mother to the last.
We give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

‘I thirst.’
He shared in our physical suffering and longing.
We give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

‘Why have you forsaken me?’
He entered into our testing and desolation.
We give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

‘It is finished!’
He completed his saving work,
and made the new covenant of love between God and his world.
We give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

‘Into your hands I commit my spirit.’
He won the victory over sin and death for ever.
We give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

The words of Jesus from the cross could be omitted if necessary. Not every section need be used.

Resurrection
G77

Our Lord Jesus Christ, risen from death,
we praise you for changed lives and new hopes at Easter.

You come to Mary in the garden,
and turn her tears into joy.
For your love and mercy we give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

You come to the disciples in the upper room,
and turn their fear into courage.
For your love and mercy we give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

You come to the disciples by the lakeside,
and turn their failure into faith.
For your love and mercy we give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

You come to the disciples on the Emmaus road,
and turn their despair into hope.
For your love and mercy we give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

You come to your people now,
and turn our weakness into triumph.
For your love and mercy we give you thanks:
we praise your holy name.

Resurrection
G78

We give you thanks and praise
for the gospel we have received.
Christ died for our sins. Alleluia.
He is risen indeed. Alleluia.

Death comes to all through Adam,
and sin reigns for a time.
New life without end comes through Christ,
and he reigns for ever. Alleluia.
He is risen indeed. Alleluia.

Death, where is your victory?
Death, where is your sting?
Death is swallowed up in victory,
the victory you give us in Christ. Alleluia.
He is risen indeed. Alleluia.

We have been crucified with Christ,
and live his risen life,
to praise you for ever with angels and archangels:
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Ascension
G79

Thanks and praise to you,
Jesus Christ, Lord of all,
given the name above every other name.
Jesus, Lord of all,
we worship and adore you.

King of righteousness, King of peace,
enthroned at the right hand of Majesty on high;
Jesus, Lord of all,
we worship and adore you.

Great high priest, living for ever to intercede for us;
Jesus, Lord of all,
we worship and adore you.

Pioneer of our salvation, you bring us to glory through your death and resurrection;
Jesus, Lord of all,
we worship and adore you.
Every knee bows to you;
every tongue confesses, you are Lord,
to the glory of God the Father.
Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.
Hosanna in the highest.

If this Thanksgiving is used as an extended preface to a eucharistic prayer, it should follow this form

Thanks and praise be to you, Lord of heaven, for Jesus Christ your Son our Lord.
You gave him the name above every name,
so that we say:

Jesus is Lord of all:
we worship and adore you.

King of righteousness, King of peace,
enthroned at the right hand of Majesty on high;
Jesus is Lord of all:
we worship and adore you.

Great high priest, living for ever to intercede for us;
Jesus is Lord of all:
we worship and adore you.

Pioneer of our salvation, bringing us to glory through death and resurrection;
Jesus is Lord of all:
we worship and adore you.

every tongue confesses, Jesus is Lord,
to the glory of God the Father.
Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.
Hosanna in the highest.

Holy Spirit
G80

Father, while all your creation groans with pain
like the pain of childbirth, and longs to share the freedom of the children of God,
your Spirit pleads for us in groans words cannot express.

Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.

The law of the Spirit brings us life in Christ,
and sets us free from the law of sin and death.

Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.

Like all who are led by your Spirit,
we are your children.
By your Spirit's power we cry, 'Abba, Father'

Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.

[The Spirit confirms that we are your children, fellow-heirs with Christ,
sharing his suffering now,
that we may share his glory.

Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.]

So by your Spirit we praise you for ever and proclaim your glory with all the company of heaven, saying:

Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Church and mission
G81

If this Thanksgiving is used as an extended preface to a eucharistic prayer it begins with the first section, and 'Almighty God ...' is omitted. If not, it begins with 'Almighty God ...'.

[Father, we give you thanks and praise
through Jesus Christ our Lord
because you are God almighty, creator of the world and everything in it,]

[Almighty God, creator of the world and everything in it,]

Lord of heaven and earth,
you made the whole human race.
You have shown to us in Christ the mystery of your purpose:

you chose us all in Christ
to praise his glory.

You will bring all things together under Christ,
all things in heaven, all things on earth,
under him as head:
you chose us all in Christ
to praise his glory.

We have heard the word of truth,
the good news of salvation,
you have stamped us with the seal of your Spirit of promise:
you chose us all in Christ
to praise his glory.

We who once were far away
have been brought near by the blood of Christ:
you chose us all in Christ
to praise his glory.

He is the peace between us,
and has broken down the barrier of hostility.
He has made us one new humanity and reconciled us to you by the cross:
you chose us all in Christ
to praise his glory.

He killed hostility and brought peace,
peace to all near at hand, peace to all far away:
you chose us all in Christ
to praise his glory.

Through him we come, by the Spirit,
to you, our Father in heaven, singing:
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Church and mission
G82

Sovereign Lord, creator of heaven and earth and sea,
and everything in them,
we are your people, we give you thanks.
We praise your holy name.

You shake us and fill us with your Spirit,
you stretch out your hand to heal,
to do signs and wonders through the name of Jesus.
We are your people, we give you thanks.
We praise your holy name.

Jesus is the author of life,
handed over to be killed for us.
You raised him from the dead,
and made us whole in him.
We are your people, we give you thanks.

We praise your holy name.

Not many of us are wise by human standards,
not many are influential,
not many of noble birth.
We are your people, we give you thanks.

We praise your holy name.

You choose the foolish to shame the wise,
you choose the weak to shame the strong,
the lowly and despised so no one may boast before you.
We are your people, we give you thanks.

We praise your holy name.

Your strength is made perfect in our weakness.
Your grace is enough for us.
We are your people, we give you thanks.

We praise your holy name.

Father, for your gift of water in creation
we give you thanks and praise.

For your Spirit, sweeping over the waters, bringing light and life
we give you thanks and praise.

For your Son, Jesus Christ our Lord, baptized in the river Jordan
we give you thanks and praise.

For your new creation, brought to birth by water and the Spirit
we give you thanks and praise.

For your grace bestowed upon us your children, washing away our sins
we give you thanks and praise.

[So, Father, accept our sacrifice of praise;
by the power of your life-giving Spirit bless these waters of your new creation.
Lord, receive our prayer.

*Christian beginnings
Resurrection
G84*

May your servants who are washed in them
be made one with your Son, who took the form of a servant.

Lord, receive our prayer.

May your Holy Spirit, who has brought us to new birth in the family of your Church,
raise us in Christ, our anointed Lord,
to full and eternal life.

Lord, receive our prayer.]

For all might, majesty and dominion are yours,
now and for ever.

Alleluia. Amen.

The paragraphs in brackets should be omitted when this section is not being used in connection with sacramental water.

Blessed are you,
God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
By your great mercy we have been born anew to a living hope
through the resurrection of your Son from the dead, and to an inheritance which is imperishable, undefiled,
and unfading.
Once we were no people, but now we are your people,
declaring your wonderful deeds in Christ,
who called us out of darkness into his marvellous light.

By the baptism of his death and resurrection
you gave birth to your Church, delivered us from slavery to sin and death,
and made with us a new covenant.
At his ascension
you exalted him to sit at your right hand, where according to his promise he is with us always,
baptizing us with the Holy Spirit and with fire.

The joy of resurrection fills the whole world,
and therefore we join with angels and archangels
and the whole company of heaven,
in the song of unending praise, saying:

Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Living in the world
G85

Father, you gave up your Son for us all.
You give us all things with him;
you call us, justify us, glorify us.
Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.

Jesus Christ died, was raised to life,
and pleads for us at your right hand.
Who can separate us from your love?
Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.

For your sake we face death all day long.
In your world we face trouble and hardship,
persecution, famine, nakedness, danger and death.
Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.

But nothing separates us from your love:
neither death nor life,
neither angels nor demons,
neither the present nor the future,
nor any heavenly powers,
neither the world above nor the world below:
nothing in all creation can separate us from your love in Jesus Christ.
Father in heaven
we give you thanks and praise.

In all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loves us,
and has freed us from our sins and made us a kingdom and priests to serve you for ever,
with all the company of heaven, saying:
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Living in the world
G86

Living God, Father of light, hope of nations, friend of sinners, builder of the city that is to come;
your love is made visible in Jesus Christ,
you bring home the lost, restore the sinner and give dignity to the despised.

In the face of Jesus Christ
your light shines out,
flooding lives with goodness and truth,
gathering into one a divided and broken humanity.

With people from every race and nation,
with the Church of all the ages,
with apostles, evangelists and martyrs we join the angels of heaven
in their unending song:
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Heaven
G87

Blessed are you, gracious God, creator of heaven and earth.
In the multitude of your saints,
you have surrounded us with a great cloud of witnesses.

The glorious company of apostles praise you.
The noble fellowship of prophets praise you.
The white-robed army of martyrs praise you.
We your holy Church acclaim you.
In communion with angels and archangels,
and with all those who have served you in every age,
and worship you now in heaven,
we raise our voices to proclaim your glory,
for ever praising you and saying:
Holy, holy, holy Lord,
God of power and might,
heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.

Short prefaces

General
G88

And now we give you thanks
because as a mother tenderly gathers her children you embraced a people as your own, that with all the powers of heaven
we might find a voice to sing your praise.

God in creation
G89

And now we give you thanks
because all things are of your making,
all times and seasons obey your laws,
but you have chosen to create us in your own image,
setting us over the whole world in all its wonder.
You have made us stewards of your creation, to praise you day by day
for the marvels of your wisdom and power:
so earth unites with heaven
to sing the new song of creation:

Christ's coming
G90

And now we give you thanks
as we look forward to the day when you will make all things new as you come to judge the world.

Christ's coming
G91

And now we give you thanks
because when he humbled himself to come among us in human flesh, he fulfilled the plan you formed long ago
and opened for us the way of salvation.
So now we watch for the day knowing that the salvation promised us will be ours when Christ our Lord will come again in glory.

Christ's coming
G92

And now we give you thanks
because you prepared the way of your Son Jesus Christ
by the preaching of your servant John the Baptist, who proclaimed him as the Lamb of God, our Saviour.

Christ's coming
G93

And now we give you thanks
because your Son our Lord was awaited by the prophets, announced by an angel,
conceived by a virgin,
and proclaimed at last to men and women of every race.

Christ's coming
G94

And now we give you thanks because in his coming the day of our deliverance has dawned;
and through him you will make all things new,
as he comes in power and triumph to judge the world.

Christ's coming
G95

And now we give you thanks
because you sent him to redeem us from sin and death and to make us inheritors of everlasting life;
that when he shall come again in power and great triumph
to judge the world,
we may with joy behold his appearing,
and in confidence may stand before him.

Christ's coming
Heaven
G96

And now we give you thanks
that he is the King of glory, who overcomes the sting of death and opens the kingdom of heaven to all believers.
He is seated at your right hand in glory and we believe that he will come to be our judge.

Christ's coming
G97

And now we give you thanks
because he came among us as a servant,
to be Emmanuel, your presence with us.

Christ's coming
G98

And now we give you thanks
as we await the promise of salvation,
the desire of all the nations,
and the fulfilment of your good purposes
before the world began.

Incarnation
G99

And now we give you thanks because he shared our life in human form from the warmth of Mary's womb to the stillness of the grave.

Incarnation
G100

And now we give you thanks
because he was born in the poverty of a stable, to make known the riches of your kingdom.

Incarnation
G 101

And now we give you thanks
because, in the incarnation of the Word,
a new light has dawned upon the world;
you have become one with us that we might become one with you in your glorious kingdom.

Cross
G 108

And now we give you thanks
because, for our salvation,
he was obedient even to death on the cross.
The tree of shame was made the tree of glory;
and where life was lost, there life has been restored.

Incarnation
G 102

And now we give you thanks
because, by the power of the Holy Spirit, he took our nature upon him and was born of the Virgin Mary his mother, that being himself without sin,
he might make us clean from all sin.

Cross
G 109

And now we give you thanks
because for our sins he was lifted high upon the cross, that he might draw the whole world to himself;
[and, by his suffering and death,
became the source of eternal salvation for all who put their trust in him].

Incarnation (Epiphany)
G 103

And now we give you thanks
because you have brought us from darkness to light and made your light shine in our hearts.
You bring us to know your glory
in the face of Jesus Christ.

cf 2 Corinthians 4.6

Cross
Ascension
G 110

And now we give you thanks
because you anointed Jesus Christ, your only Son,
as priest and king.
Crowned with thorns, he offered his life upon the cross,
that he might draw all people into that kingdom
where he now reigns in glory.

Incarnation (Epiphany)
G 104

And now we give you thanks
because in the wonder of the incarnation your eternal Word has brought to the eyes of faith
a new and radiant vision of your glory.
In him we see our God made visible and so are caught up in love of the God we cannot see.

Cross
G 111

And now we give you thanks
because you anointed Jesus Christ, your only Son,
as the eternal priest and king of all.
As a priest he offered up his life on the cross, that by his one sacrifice he might present to you an eternal kingdom;
a kingdom of truth and life;
a kingdom of justice, love and peace.

Cross
G 105

And now we give you thanks
because he is the true passover lamb offered for us to take away the sin of the world.

Cross
G 106

And now we give you thanks
because you give us the spirit of discipline, that we may triumph over evil and grow in grace,
as we prepare to celebrate the paschal mystery with mind and heart renewed.

Resurrection
G 112

And now we give you thanks
because Christ is the victim who dies no more,
the Lamb, once slain, who lives for ever,
our advocate in heaven to plead our cause,
exalting us there to join the angels and archangels, with all the company of heaven for ever praising you and saying:

Cross
G 107

And now we give you thanks
because each year you give us this joyful season when we prepare to celebrate the paschal mystery
with mind and heart renewed.
You give us a spirit of loving reverence for you and of willing service to our neighbour.
As we recall the saving acts that give new life in Christ, you bring the image of your Son to perfection within our hearts.

Resurrection
G 113

And now we give you thanks
because by his death he broke the power of sin and made us holy through his blood.

Resurrection
G 114

And now we give you thanks
because by his death he has destroyed death, and by his rising again he has restored to us eternal life.

Resurrection
G 115

And now we give you thanks
because by his victory over the grave
he burst the gates of death for ever.

Resurrection
G 116

But chiefly are we bound to praise you because you raised him gloriously from the dead.
For he is the true paschal lamb who was offered for us,
and has taken away the sin of the world.
By his death he has destroyed death, and by rising to life again he has restored to us everlasting life.

Ascension
G 117

And now we give you thanks
because you have highly exalted him, and given him the name which is above all other names,
that at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow.

Ascension
Living in the world
G 118

And now we give you thanks
because Jesus has been given all authority, in heaven and on earth,
to present to you, his Father,
a kingdom of truth, holiness and everlasting love.

Ascension
G 119

And now we give you thanks
because he humbled himself to die on a cross;
but you raised him high and gave him the name above all other names, Jesus Christ our Lord.

cf Philipians 2.8,9

Ascension
G 120

And now we give you thanks
because, after his most glorious resurrection,
he appeared to his disciples,
and in their sight ascended into heaven
to prepare a place for us;
that where he is, thither we might also ascend,
and reign with him in glory.

Holy Spirit
G 121

And now we give you thanks
because through him we receive the Spirit of adoption, affirming us as your children,
and crying 'Abba, Father'.

cf Romans 8.15

Holy Spirit
Ascension
G 122

And now we give you thanks
that, after he had ascended far above all heavens,
and was seated at the right hand of your majesty, he sent forth upon the universal Church your holy and life-giving Spirit;
that through his glorious power
the joy of the everlasting gospel might go forth into all the world.

Holy Spirit
Church and mission
G 123

And now we give you thanks because he breathed upon his disciples
the power of your Spirit to proclaim the good news to all peoples.

cf John 20.21,22

Word
G 124

And now we give you thanks
because the wisdom of your word sustains all things and reveals you to us in your fullness.

Church and mission
G 125

And now we give you thanks
because by the Holy Spirit you lead us into all truth, and give us power to proclaim your gospel to the nations and to serve you as a royal priesthood.

Church and mission
G 126

And now we give you thanks
because he is the true vine, your chosen one,
in whom we are joined to bear fruit in plenty.

Christian beginnings
G 127

And now we give you thanks
because through him we are saved for ever and baptized into your service.

Lament
Cross
G 128

And now we give you thanks
because he was tempted in every way as we are, yet did not sin.
By his grace we are able to triumph over every evil,
and to live no longer for ourselves alone,
but for him who died for us and rose again.

Relationships and healing
Incarnation
G 129

And now we give you thanks
because in his earthly childhood you entrusted him to the care of a human family.
In Mary and Joseph you give us an example of love and devotion to him,
and also a pattern of family life.

Relationships and healing
G 130

And now we give you thanks
because [a man leaves his father and mother and is joined to his wife:
you make them one flesh;
and because] you put us together in families,
to grasp your love and forgiveness,
reflected in those around us,
and as we grow,
you prepare to bring us into the glorious freedom of your children,
as brothers and sisters of Jesus Christ.

Genesis 2.24; Romans 8.17,22

Relationships and healing
G 131

And now we give you thanks because you have made the union between Christ and his Church
a pattern for the marriage between husband and wife.

Relationships and healing
G 132

All glory, honour, thanks and praise be given to you, creator of heaven and earth.
When you made us in your image, creating us male and female,
you gave us the gift of marriage.
When sin marred that image
you healed our brokenness, giving your Son to die for us.
Therefore we raise our voices,
with all who have served you in every age,
to proclaim the glory of your name:

Relationships and healing
G 133

And now we give you thanks because in the covenant of marriage you show us your divine love, a mirror of your will for all creation made new and united to you for ever.

Relationships and healing
G 134

And now we give you thanks
because you provide medicine to heal our sickness, and the leaves of the tree of life for the healing of the nations, anointing us with your healing power
so that we may be the first fruits of your new creation.

Relationships and healing
G 135

And now we give you thanks
that, taking upon himself our human nature,
he shared our joy and our tears,
bore all our sickness,
and carried all our sorrows.
Through death he brought us to the life of his glorious resurrection, giving for frailty eternal strength,
and restoring in us the image of your glory.

Relationships and healing
Lament
G 136

And now we give you thanks
that you have shown the greatness of your love for us by sending him to share our human nature and accomplish our forgiveness.
He embraces us in our weakness,
he suffers with the sick and the rejected,
and, bringing your healing to the world,
he rescues us from every evil.

Relationships and healing
G 137

And now we give you thanks
that through him the sick are healed:
the blind regain their sight,
the deaf hear,
the lame walk,
and the outcast are brought home;
the poor receive good news
and the dead are raised to life.

Relationships and healing
Lament
G 138

It is right to give you thanks
in sickness and in health,
in suffering and in joy,
through Christ our Saviour and our Redeemer,
who, as the Good Samaritan,
tends the wounds of body and spirit.
He stands by us and pours out for our healing
the oil of consolation and the wine of renewed hope, turning the darkness of our pain into the dawning light of his kingdom.
And now we join with saints and angels
for ever praising you and saying:

the peace

H The Peace

Stories from the four churches

At St Ann's the Peace is the climax to which the first half of the service moves. Today the president uses a versicle and response echoing the theme of the service. This is used for a month or more during the same teaching theme or season of the Church's year and is printed on the notice sheet. Members of the congregation are encouraged to greet one another with it outside the church – or even over the telephone! The response 'and also with you' is the signal for a lot of movement in the church as people shake hands, hug or greet one another in other ways. There is some sensitivity to people who want to remain on their own, though the PCC recently rejected a suggestion that one corner of the church be set aside as a peace-free zone. It is good to see people using the time to share with others something of what God has said to them through the preaching, and to discover what the younger members of the church have been doing in their groups. People have been taught what the Peace is for and how to use it (see pages 270–271). At present they are experimenting with the Peace lasting for fifteen to twenty minutes, with refreshments being served, after which some who are not yet communicants leave. This has helped to encourage enquirers and those seeking baptism for their children, for instance, to experience a freer style of service which is shorter and does not commit them to receiving communion. Some, however, say that communion feels like an afterthought rather than the climax of the service. The service begins again with some gentle music and chorus singing, during which people take their seats as they prepare for the Thanksgiving.

At St Bartholomew's today the service has been led by one of the lay people. At the end of the intercessions she glances at her watch. The vicar is taking the service at one of the other churches in the group and often arrives here towards the end of the intercessions. If he does, it is natural for him to say the words of the Peace and it acts partly as a greeting announcing his arrival. But he must have met sheep on the road or have been talking too long at the other church, so the lay leader says the words of the Peace and the small congregation spend a few moments greeting one another. If they are short of time, the Peace can be briefer and more formal – living together in a village means they have already greeted one another today. Enter the vicar, at speed, just as the hymn is being announced. 'Peace be with you all!' he shouts, with a wave of the hand, and they all reply. Much better than 'Good morning everyone'!

The clergy at St Christopher's use a full range of seasonal introductory words to the Peace, occasionally following the pattern of the Maundy Thursday service in the seasonal material, using a short collect about peace instead of the introductory sentence. The deacon says, 'Let us offer one another a sign of peace' and sometimes wonders why people need this reminder what to do: why can't they just get on with it? But when they were moving away from the (bad old?) days when the Peace was first exchanged in the sanctuary and then brought down to the people by a server greeting the person at the end of each row, these action words were needed to give people permission to move on their own. And occasionally they have the Peace later in the service, before the distribution. Some say that a general handshake is not appropriate at that point, so the 'Let us offer ...' words are not used.

The vicar at St Dodo's is used to commanding his congregation, but has been having a battle over the Peace, with some resisting his attempts to make it more demonstrative. 'We will all stand for the Peace. The peace ...' he bellows ... 'We will all exchange a sign of peace.' And when one couple on the front row remain kneeling (in peace), he marches over, lays a hand on each head and says, 'The peace of the Lord be with you!' which is not quite a demonstration of peace. There has never been any teaching on why or how to exchange the Peace (see section below). There is embarrassment as one lady, taught in a more formal church, extends both hands tentatively towards a large man bearing down on her with arms flung out ready to hug her. She ducks. In one corner, some of the younger people don't seem to have been taught the difference between the Peace and snogging. And those who know one another well are engaging in noisy back-slapping and handshaking, ignoring those who are not known to them, who stand in sheepish silence waiting for the thing to be over. But that is the problem. The vicar is deep in (no doubt important) conversation with the church treasurer and has not thought how to announce the next hymn over the hubbub. So he shouts ...

What the Peace is for and how to use it

Some of the things people at St Ann's have been taught:

- * time to get straight with God before coming to communion (so you may need to be on your own, perhaps grappling with something from the sermon);
- * time to get straight with other people before coming to communion (so you may need to go and make your peace, or ask forgiveness from someone at the other end of the church). This is what the Prayer Book calls being 'in love and charity with your neighbours';

- * time to share with others something for prayer (so you may need to ask one of the leaders for the laying on of hands for healing, or some other individual ministry, later in the service);
- * time to share with others something for praise (so you may have something that God has been doing with you during the week that will contribute to the praise of the whole church);
- * time to greet people you do not know (so you may need to help someone else, perhaps someone new to the church, feel part of the Christian family at communion, rather than greeting only your close friends);
- * time to be sensitive to the mood of others (so you may need to refrain from approaching someone who is clearly putting themselves right with God).

How to stop the Peace

Some suggestions:

- * When announcing the Peace, announce the hymn after it: 'At the end of the Peace we shall sing ...'. Then all that is needed is a nod to the organist, or an agreement that the organist takes the decision when to start.
- * The organist plays the opening bars of the hymn, and stops while the announcement is made.
- * Some gentle music is played, perhaps a chorus which people can join in. As this ends the hymn is announced.

Note to the resources

Note 16 in Common Worship Holy Communion provides for the Peace to be used at other points than the one provided. It can be used as the opening greeting, or as part of the Communion rite before the breaking of bread or the Dismissal. The Peace may be introduced with a suitable sentence; some are provided in the seasonal provisions, and more here. The pattern is easy to copy, for instance to provide words for special occasions or to echo some particular teaching in the sermon. The introductory words should not normally be a prayer but an encouragement, based on Scripture, to minister peace to one another. The second sentence, 'The peace of the Lord be always with you', is best kept as a standard introduction to the response, but may be seasonally varied, as for example, 'The peace of the risen Lord be always with you.'

Introductory words to the Peace

- General H1 God will speak peace to his people, to those who turn to him in their hearts.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf Psalm 85.8; 1 Samuel 12.20
- General H2 God has called us to live in peace.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf 1 Corinthians 7.17
- General H3 The Apostle Paul said:
'Aim for perfection,
be of one mind, live in peace.
Greet one another with a holy kiss.'
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf 2 Corinthians 13.11
- General H4 Let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts, since as members of one body you are called to peace.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf Colossians 3.15
- General H5 Blessed are the peacemakers:
they shall be called children of God.
We meet in the name of Christ and share his peace.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf Matthew 5.19
- General H6 God is love and those who live in love live in God and God lives in them.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
- General H7 'Where two or three are gathered together in my name,' says the Lord, 'there am I in the midst of them.'
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
- General H8 We are all one in Christ Jesus.
We belong to him through faith,
heirs of the promise of the Spirit of peace.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
- General Heaven H9 Jesus says to his disciples,
'Peace I leave with you; my peace I give you.
Not as the world gives do I give to you.
Let not your hearts be troubled or afraid.'
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf John 14.27
- Father, Son and Spirit H10 Peace to you from God who is our Father.
Peace from Jesus Christ who is our peace.
Peace from the Holy Spirit who gives us life.
The peace of the triune God be always with you.
- Christ's coming H11 In the tender mercy of our God,
the dayspring from on high shall break upon us,
to give light to those who dwell in darkness
and in the shadow of death,
and to guide our feet into the way of peace.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf Luke 1.78,79
- Christ's coming H12 May the God of peace make you completely holy, ready for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf 1 Thessalonians 5.23
- Christ's coming H13 Blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord.
Peace in heaven and glory in the highest.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.

and peace on earth to all on whom his favour rests.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf Luke 2.14
- Incarnation H15 Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given,
and his name shall be called the Prince of Peace.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.
cf Isaiah 9.6
- Incarnation H16 Christ came and proclaimed the gospel, peace to those who are far off and peace to those who are near.
The peace of the Lord be always with you.

I Action and Movement

Stories from the four churches

Today is Pentecost Sunday at St Ann's. The church feels very different. Everyone is wearing something red, and it feels as if the whole church is ablaze with colour. The focus is an enormous crown suspended over the communion table, which was put there on Ascension Day to symbolize the kingship of Christ. Now there are flames all around and inside it as the theme moves on to the Lord, the Spirit. St Ann's has been having a discussion about the use of symbols and symbolic action, and divided them into three groups (see pages 280–281). Today, the small dance group interprets a hymn to the Holy Spirit while the congregation remains seated to sing, so that they can see and be involved in the movement.

At St Bartholomew's, just before the Peace, there is a noise at the back of the church, and the children enter in a procession with musical instruments (recorders, percussion etc.). This used to happen during the hymn after the Peace, but was brought forward so that the children could share in exchanging the Peace. At the end are two children with bread and wine which they take up to the sanctuary. The congregation have been learning about being on the move, and sometimes process outside the church, for example on Palm Sunday accompanied by a donkey.

At St Christopher's there is deliberate and systematic use of symbols. They have decided which symbols require explanation and which are self-explanatory: they have learnt that taking too much time to explain to people what they are doing simply interrupts the worship, and that not everything needs explaining. They have also learnt not to be minimalistic about their symbols and actions. So, for instance, the fire on the Saturday night before Easter Day, from which the candles were lit during the Easter Vigil, was a large bonfire outside the church. Similarly, the movement in church is not over-solemn and slow: they recognize that movement is necessary and should be done well. Today they are trying something different as, at the offertory, people come from different corners of the church carrying the altar cloth, chalice and ciborium, bread and wine, and proceed to lay the table which has been bare until that point.

The church is sufficiently large for the whole congregation to get up and move to different parts of it for different sections of the service. This is more like a moving group of people than a solemn two-by-two procession. They did this very successfully at Epiphany and found that the children could take part more easily in something that moved from place to place.

Though the usual symbolism at St Dodo's is that of dead flowers and failed light bulbs, things look brighter today with a fairly full church for the Christingle service. The children go to the sanctuary step to hand over money in return for lighted Christingles (no one seems to have thought through the implications of the symbolism of this exchange). Because things seem to be moving very slowly, with small children finding it difficult to hold the Christingle orange upright, the vicar sends some of them off in one direction and some in another, and the two processions meet amid great and dangerous confusion towards the back of the church, where angry parents, afraid of the danger, have to intervene to sort things out. They remember what happened on Palm Sunday a few years ago when an acolyte set fire to a palm frond with his candle. A server with great presence of mind picked up the burning palm but instead of throwing it on the floor and stamping the fire out, tried (solemnly but with difficulty!) to process out of church holding it in front of him, with the result that his hair was very badly singed. Remember the rule: when processing out of church with a burning palm, walk backwards.

Processions: some questions

Where is the procession going from and where to?

How will they know the way? Is it obvious or do they need leading by crucifer/acolytes/verger/musicians?

Processions should have a purpose, not just wander about. What is the purpose for this procession? What expectation do we want the procession to create? What is going to happen when it arrives? Is there a gift to receive, a banner to display, a prayer to say?

In what order are people to move off? There is no particular reason why the important people have to come at the end. It may often work best if they go first.

Symbols and actions

Symbols can be of very many different sorts:

I Symbols people bring with them

For example, wearing clothes symbolizing respectability, purity, or some aspect of the season (e.g. bonnets at Easter or something white at Christmas), or simply being visually the people of God, a crowd or a number of smaller groups relating together.

2 Symbols and actions which are individual

Holding a book for worship (what is the message of that?). Bowing, making the sign of the cross, distributing nails to people on Good Friday, or candles at Candlemas: though these are individual, they also express relationship and unity among the congregation.

3 Symbols and actions uniting the congregation

Actions done together at the same time, such as standing and kneeling, exchanging the Peace, holding hands etc., are a way of drawing the congregation together.

Pictures, statues, icons, frontals and banners should be unitive and gather the attention of the congregation towards God – they can sometimes be fragmentary and disperse the congregation's thoughts and responses. Should some things be moved away for some sorts of service, as happens with the stripping of the Holy Table on Maundy Thursday?

Dance is also something which can unite or divide. It might involve one person or a group 'performing' something which is usually rehearsed, for example as an interpretation of a reading or song or prayer. It can involve spontaneous solo dancers: this is usually easier during a hymn or song, expressing praise to God and often assisting the congregation to gather up their praise and worship. Large numbers of a congregation might also dance spontaneously to praise God, sometimes moving out to occupy the aisles and other spaces in the church.

Distributing communion: stories from the four churches

At St Ann's, five of the leadership team come and stand around the table to receive communion, which they pass from one to the other. Then, together with the president, they distribute communion in three pairs moving right round the rail, returning round the far side of the communion table to the point at which they started. The bread is part of a loaf, which they break as they go. (They have been taught that the breaking – 'fraction' – was something functional rather than ceremonial in the New Testament descriptions, and that the custom of chopping the bread into little bits before the service starts really undermines the strong image of unity in the body conveyed by 'We break this bread ... we, though many, are one body...'). As they pass the children, they lay one hand on them and pray for them; one or two of the parents break a piece off their own bread to share with their children. At the side of the long rail, one or two people remain kneeling, waiting for the ministry of the laying on of hands for healing. This is usually done by the same group of people, though others may join in or come forward to take over the distributing of communion if that seems in danger of being held up.

At St Bartholomew's the vicar is away, and the service is led by a Reader. During a hymn the consecrated bread and wine are brought from the church in the next village, and placed on the altar. There is no consecration prayer, but the Reader uses the service from Public Worship with Communion by Extension. The Reader distributes the sacrament, following the local custom of saying the longer BCP words to the whole rail of people, followed by brief words to each. The communicants at the rail wait until everyone has received, and all depart together. The sidespeople encourage forward only the right number to fill the rail each time, so there is no queue.

The distribution at St Christopher's is equally well organized, with one of the wardens gradually moving back down the church telling people when to go forward, and a server some yards from the rail to direct people where to go. The whole thing moves very smoothly. The three lay ministers of communion are not robed. One shares the distribution of the wafers with the president, and two follow with the cup. Everyone knows – because it is regularly announced – that those who come to the rail holding a book are not receiving the sacrament. When there is a large service, the congregation have got used to receiving communion standing, from two stations, one at the front of the church and one half way down the nave. Those who give the cup to people taller than themselves have realized that it is easier to put the cup into people's hands. At the end of the distribution, three people who have the bishop's permission to take communion to the sick come forward, with their pyxes, and after a prayer they go straight out to perform their ministry.

At St Dodo's, no one is quite sure who is meant to be helping the president to distribute communion, so after a hurried conversation at the back of the church (and rejecting one of the women who offers to do it, because they think she is unsuitably dressed), one of the wardens moves forward as the president glares anxiously down the church. He has to lift the centre part of the rail out in order to get into the sanctuary, and by the time he arrives the president has begun to distribute wafers to the four members of the choir at one side of the rail. The warden is not quite sure whether he has the authority to take the cup from the table, so there is a hiatus. The delay puts a certain amount of pressure on the operation, and the distribution proceeds at a rapid pace, so much so that some people do not have any time to pray when they kneel down before the wafer is thrust at them. Those distributing also have no time to pray for each person, as disasters follow thick and fast. The president drops a wafer and the warden, following close behind, puts his foot on it (or was he trying to conceal it?). He then discovers a fly struggling to get out of the cup and tries to get it out with a flick of his finger, without even turning around so that his action is not quite so visible! The warden next gives the cup to a young woman carrying a small child who immediately reaches out a violent arm, knocking the cup so that a quantity of wine spills down the woman's front. A considerable amount of embarrassment and mopping up with purificators ensues, all of which might have been avoided had the warden, perhaps wise from previous encounters, held the child's hand or retained a firm hold on the cup. Before long, the wine runs out and he simply goes to the credence table and fills up with more.

Authorization of ministers of the sacrament

Canon B 12.3 says:

No person shall distribute the holy sacrament of the Lord's Supper to the people unless he shall have been ordained in accordance with the provisions of Canon C 1, or is otherwise authorized by Canon or unless he has been specially authorized to do so by the bishop acting under such regulations as the General Synod may make from time to time.

The Church Assembly Regulations made in 1969 are still in operation:

1. An application to the Bishop to authorize ... a baptized and confirmed person to distribute the Holy Sacrament in any parish shall be made in writing by the incumbent or priest-in-charge of the parish and supported by the churchwardens, and shall specify the name and give relevant particulars of the person to whom the application relates.
2. It shall be in the discretion of the Bishop to grant or refuse the application and to specify the circumstances or conditions in or on which the authority is to be available.

Blessings

Where children and adults who are not receiving communion are being blessed at the rail, it is good to vary the form of words used. Some possibilities are:

- * 'The Lord bless you and keep you';
- * 'The Lord bless you and give you joy in all you do for him';
- * 'The Lord bless and take care of you both' (for example, with a married couple when one of them is receiving communion and the other not);
- * 'The Lord bless and strengthen you as you seek to follow him' (especially suitable for those preparing for baptism or confirmation);
- * 'Christ fill you with his joy and peace';
- * 'The blessing of Jesus Christ rest upon you';
- * 'May God be with you';
- * 'May Jesus Christ bless you'.

(The last four may be more suitable for lay people to use in situations where there is some sensitivity about whether or not they may use a more direct form of blessing.)

As well as words there should be some gesture of inclusion. Some ministers prefer to lay a hand on the shoulder rather than the head, to avoid episcopal or priestly connotations, but laying hands on heads is a biblical gesture by no means confined to priests, and is unlikely to upset lay people. Another possibility is to make the sign of the cross, on the forehead for example. With very small children, rather than simply patting them on the head from on high, it may help to get down to their level and greet them briefly before blessing them. But it is best not to get into long conversations about teddy bears.

Training for those who distribute communion

This should be theological, spiritual and practical. It might include:

- * Something on theology and history;
- * Knowledge of differing approaches to the sacrament within the Church, so that those who distribute are prepared for different customs and can be sensitive to those with different views from their own;
- * Knowing the words by heart;
- * Prayer before and silently for each person during the distribution;
- * Recognizing those in distress;
- * How to distribute bread without dropping crumbs;
- * The best way to cope with intinction (whether by the president or by the communicant taking the wafer and waiting until the cup comes round);
- * Giving the cup to women with wide-brimmed hats;
- * What to do if wine is spilt;
- * How to tell the president quietly and without attracting attention if the bread or wine is running out;
- * What to do when the distribution is finished.

Note to the resources

These, or other similar responses, may be used at the beginning of the service, at the intercessions, at the presentation of the gifts, or before the blessing and dismissal. Some of them are suitable only when gifts of money or tokens of the life and work of the people, or of some particular aspect of service, are to be collected and/or offered to God. These might be placed on a table in the middle of the congregation or presented to the presiding minister. The last three prayers here come from 'Prayers at the Preparation of the Table' on page 291 of Common Worship, where more prayers suitable for use in the Holy Communion may be found.

Words for dedication

Some of these responses might also be used for the dedication of church officers and leaders, PCC members, stewardship or mission visitors, etc. This may take place at the intercessions or at the Peace, and the minister may first say, 'As mission visitors (or whatever ...) we dedicate ourselves/you to God's service.' For an Affirmation of Commitment, see page 169.

- 11 Christ has offered for all time a single sacrifice for sins.
He is seated at the right hand of God.

Through him let us offer up a sacrifice of praise to God:
the fruit of lips that acknowledge his name.

Do not forget to do good and share what you have.
Such sacrifices are pleasing to God.

- 12 The free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.
By his mercy we present our whole lives to God as a living sacrifice.

- 13 Lord Jesus Christ, you emptied yourself, taking the form of a servant.
Through your love, make us servants of one another.

Lord Jesus Christ, for our sake you became poor.
May our lives and gifts enrich the life of your world.

- 14 Though many, we form one body in Christ.
We belong to one another.

By God's grace we have different gifts.
We will use them in faith.

Rejoice in hope, stand firm in trouble, be constant in prayer.
Filled with his Spirit we will serve the Lord.

- 15 Blessed are you, Lord, God of all creation;
through your goodness we have this money to offer,
the fruit of our labour and of the skills you have given us.
Take us and our possessions to do your work in the world.
Blessed be God for ever.

16 God of all goodness and grace, receive the gifts we offer;
and grant that our whole life may give you glory and praise;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

17 Let us pray.
Gracious God, accept these gifts,
and with them our lives,
to be used in your service;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

18 Yours, Lord, is the greatness, the power,
the glory, the splendour, and the majesty;
for everything in heaven and on earth is yours.
All things come from you,
and of your own do we give you.

19 Generous God,
creator, redeemer, sustainer,
at your table we present this money,
symbol of the work you have given us to do;
use it, use us,
in the service of your world
to the glory of your name.
Amen.

110 God of life, saviour of the poor, receive with this money gratitude for your goodness, penitence for our pride and dedication to your service
in Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

J Conclusion

Stories from the four churches

Today at St Ann's the whole service has been centred around the theme of God's love. After the distribution of Communion, there is silent prayer, and then the whole congregation joins together in the Post Communion prayer:

Lord, we have broken your bread,
and received your life.
By the power of your Spirit
keep us always in your love ... (J35 below)

The first verse of 'We are marching in the light of God' is sung followed by the Blessing and Dismissal from the chancel step, and then the whole congregation go out singing the rest of the hymn.

At St Bartholomew's today there has been a baptism, so the Baptism Post Communion prayer is used (page 362 in Common Worship), followed by the threefold Blessing, 'The Father, whose glory fills the heavens, cleanse you by his holiness and send you to proclaim his word ...' (J98 below). One of the churchwardens then presents a lighted candle to the parents of the baby who has just been baptized. He uses the words on page 363 of Common Worship. The minister says the Dismissal, and leads the baptism party out first with the candle held high, as a symbol of bearing the light of Christ into the world.

At St Christopher's after the Post Communion prayers there is a recessional hymn during which the choir move to the back of the church. The president pronounces the Blessing from the sanctuary, and moves to the door as the Deacon says the Dismissal from the back of the church.

The president at St Dodo's starts the shorter congregational Post Communion prayer and, while that is being said, fumbles with the ribbons in Common Worship to find the Post Communion for the day. Unfortunately he turns to the page where the traditional form of the prayer is found, when the rest of the service has been in modern English. He goes straight into the Blessing, having just invited the congregation to kneel and given them insufficient time to do so. After the Dismissal he announces the final hymn. At the end of this, everybody kneels for the final vestry prayer which is amplified for the congregation to hear. Nobody moves, as they have been taught – wrongly – that the service is not over until that point, and that they should wait for the final 'liturgical ending'.

Ending services

The service should have a clear ending. This may be

- * a blessing;
- * a dismissal (with or without a preceding blessing);
- * some other liturgical ending, including the Peace, the Grace or a suitable ascription or responsive conclusion.

This is set out in the final rubric and Note 9 to A Service of the Word. The Dismissal in Order One Holy Communion (Common Worship, page 183) provides for a blessing (which is optional) and a responsive dismissal (which must be used, though three options are given) after which 'The ministers and people depart'. One form of blessing is provided on page 183, but the rubric says that the seasonal or another suitable blessing may be used, and more are provided on page 299 and pages 300–329.

Those planning the service will want to ensure that both the blessing and any prayer immediately before it gather up what has been going on in the service and focus on God who now sends his people out into the world.

So any prayer near the end of the service should not be general intercession, but a brief combination of thanksgiving and petition for grace to go out and serve God. Many of the Post Communion prayers (pages 376–521) are also suitable for use at the end of A Service of the Word as well, and more are provided below, divided into these two categories. Note 22 to Common Worship Holy Communion suggests that if two prayers are used after communion, the second should be a congregational one. If only one is used, it may be presidential or congregational, and may be one of those printed in the main text or one of those in the supplementary texts, some of which are included below. This may have a seasonal or thematic flavour.

A dismissal, ending or blessing should be the last item in any service, and should not normally be followed by a hymn or more prayers.

Notes to the resources

This section includes:

- * Closing prayers, suitable for use in a non-eucharistic Service of the Word;
- * Prayers suitable for use at the end of a service of Holy Communion, either as Post Communion prayers, or as part of the sending out;
- * Blessings;
- * Acclamations for the end of a service.

In general the congregational 'Amen', which concludes a prayer said by the leader, has not been printed here. It may need to be added if a full congregational text is being produced.

Texts in bold are suitable for congregational use.

Closing prayers

These prayers are particularly suitable as closing prayers for a non-eucharistic service. Though they do not refer explicitly to the sacrament, some of them could also be used as a Post Communion prayer, or as part of the Dismissal in a service of Holy Communion. The prayers printed in bold type are suitable for the whole congregation to join in.

Heavenly Father,
we share together the blessing of your presence.
Give us in this life knowledge of your truth,
and in the world to come life everlasting;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

*General (morning)
J2*

Eternal God,
our beginning and our end,
accompany us in this day's journey.
Dawn on our darkness,
open our eyes to praise you for your creation and to see the work you set before us today.
Take us and use us
to bring to others the new life you give in Jesus Christ our Lord.

*General (evening)
J3*

Lord, you have brought us through this day
to a time of reflection and rest.
Calm us,
and give us your peace to refresh us.
Keep us close to Christ that we may be closer to one another because of his perfect love.
In his name we pray.

*General (evening)
J4*

God, you are everything to us,
giving us life,
filling us with love,
and setting us free from sin
that we might live in you.
Accept the work of our hands this day,
take our lives,
give us your peace
and renew us in the service of Jesus Christ our Lord.

*General (evening)
J5*

Gracious God,
you have given us much today;
grant us also a thankful spirit.
Into your hands we commend ourselves and those we love.
Stay with us,
and when we take our rest
renew us for the service of your Son Jesus Christ.

Christ's coming
J7*

Almighty God,
by your command time runs its course;
forgive our impatience,
perfect our faith,
and, while we wait for the fulfilment of your promises,
grant us to have a good hope because of your word;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

*General (time)
Lament
J8*

Jesus, lord of time,
hold us in your eternity.
Jesus, image of God,
travel with us the life of faith.
Jesus, friend of sinners,
heal the brokenness of our world.
Jesus, lord of tomorrow,
draw us into your future. Amen.

*Father, Son and Spirit
J9*

O God our mystery,
you bring us to life,
call us to freedom,
and move between us with love.
May we so participate in your dance of trinity that our lives may resonate with you,
now and for ever.

God in creation
J10

Creator God,
you give seed for us to sow,
and bread for us to eat;
make us thankful for what we have received and generous in supplying the needs of others so all the world may give you thanks and glory,
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Christ's coming
J11

Lord our God,
on the first day of creation
you made the light that scatters the darkness.
Let Christ, the light of lights,
hidden from all eternity,
shine at last on your people and free us from the darkness of sin.
Fill our lives with joy
as we go out to welcome your Son at his coming.
We ask this in the name of Jesus the Lord.

Incarnation
J12

God our Father,
[in this night] you have made known to us again
the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ:
confirm our faith and fix our eyes on him until the day dawns
and Christ the Morning Star rises in our hearts.
To him be glory both now and for ever.
Amen.

Incarnation
J13

God our Father,
your Word has come among us in the Holy Child of Bethlehem:
may the light of faith illumine our hearts and shine in our words and deeds;
through him who is Christ the Lord.

Incarnation
J14

Father of all,
you have given us your Son to be the Saviour of the world.
Welcome us your children into your kingdom to enjoy your presence now and for ever.

Incarnation
J15

Son of Mary, Son of God,
we have joined the worship of the angels;
may we never lose that heavenly vision.
Like the shepherds,
we have rejoiced at the news of your birth;
help us to proclaim that message in word and deed,
to your praise and glory.

Incarnation
J16

God of glory,
you nourish us with your Word
who is the bread of life:
fill us with your Holy Spirit that through us the light of your glory may shine in all the world.
We ask this in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Cross
J17

Most merciful God,
by the death and resurrection of your Son Jesus Christ
you delivered and saved the world:
grant that by faith in him who suffered on the cross
we may triumph in the power of his victory;
through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, [who is alive and reigns with you,
in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
one God, now and for ever.]

Cross
Church and mission
J18

Lord Jesus Christ,
you humbled yourself in taking the form of a servant,
and in obedience died on the cross for our salvation:
give us the courage to follow you and to proclaim you as Lord and King,
to the glory of God the Father.

Cross
Lament
J19

Jesus, Son of God, our true and only Saviour:
you died like a criminal on a cross;
but you are God who forgives.
Once broken, helpless and in pain,
you are God in whom there is hope.
You have shown us a love beyond words:
give us your forgiveness, hope and love.

*Cross
Heaven
J20*

Lord Jesus Christ,
Son of the living God,
set your passion, cross, and death between your judgement and us,
now and at the hour of our death.
Give mercy and grace to the living,
rest to the faithful departed,
to your holy Church peace and concord,
and to us sinners eternal life and glory;
for you are alive and reign with the Father and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever.

*Resurrection
J21*

God of our salvation,
you have restored us to life,
you have brought us back again into your love
by the triumphant death and resurrection of Christ.
Continue to heal us,
as we go to live and work in the power of your Spirit,
to your praise and glory.

*Ascension
Heaven
J22*

Almighty God,
who raised Jesus from the dead and exalted him to your right hand on high:
may we know your resurrection power in our daily lives and look with hope to that day when we shall see you face to face and share in your glory,
Father, Son and Holy Spirit:
one God, now and for ever.

*Holy Spirit

J24*

Faithful God,
who fulfilled the promises of Easter by sending us your Holy Spirit and made known to every race and nation
the way of life eternal:
open our lips by your Spirit,
that every tongue may tell of your glory;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

*Word
J25*

Almighty God,
we thank you for the gift of your holy word.
May it be a lantern to our feet,
a light to our paths,
and a strength to our lives.
Take us and use us
to love and serve in the power of the Holy Spirit and in the name of your Son,
Jesus Christ our Lord.

*Church and mission
J26*

Keep us, Father, in this community of faith,
the Church of your Son Jesus Christ, and help us to confess him as Messiah and Lord
in all we say and do.
We ask this in his name.

*Church and mission
J27*

Draw your Church together, O God, into one great company of disciples, together following our Lord Jesus Christ
into every walk of life,
together serving him in his mission to the world,
and together witnessing to his love
on every continent and island.

*Church and mission
J28*

Eternal God, giver of love and power, your Son Jesus Christ has sent us into all the world to preach the gospel of his kingdom:
confirm us in this mission,
and help us to live the good news we proclaim;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

*Christian beginnings
J29*

God of our pilgrimage,
you have led us to the living water:
refresh and sustain us
as we go forward on our journey,
in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord.

*Lament
J30*

God of compassion,
through your Son Jesus Christ
you have reconciled your people to yourself.
As we follow his example of prayer and fasting,
may we obey you with willing hearts and serve one another in holy love;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Living in the world
J31

Lord God,
you hold both heaven and earth in a single peace.
Let the design of your great love shine on the waste of our anger and sorrow, and give peace to your Church,
peace among nations,
peace in our homes,
and peace in our hearts,
in Jesus Christ our Lord.

Living in the world
Relationships and healing
J32

Great God, you are one God, and you bring together what is scattered and mend what is broken.
Unite us with the scattered peoples of the earth
that we may be one family of your children.
Bind up all our wounds
and heal us in spirit,
that we may be renewed as disciples of Jesus Christ,
our Master and Saviour.

Living in the world
J33

To be said facing the open doors

To a troubled world peace from Christ.
To a searching world
love from Christ.
To a waiting world
hope from Christ.

Heaven
J34

God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,
bring us to the dwelling which your Son is preparing for all who love you.
Give us the will each day
to live in life eternal.
Let our citizenship be in heaven with the whole company of the redeemed and with countless angels, praising, worshipping and adoring him who sits upon the throne for ever and ever.

Post Communion prayers

General
J35

Lord,
we have broken your bread
and received your life.
By the power of your Spirit
keep us always in your love;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

General
J36

We thank you, Lord,
that you have fed us in this sacrament,
united us with Christ,
and given us a foretaste of the heavenly banquet prepared for all peoples.

Christ's coming
J37

Generous God,
you have fed us at your heavenly table.
Set us on fire with your Spirit that when Christ comes again
we may shine like lights before his face,
who with you and the Spirit lives for ever.

Christ's coming
J38

Loving Father,
your Son Jesus Christ has come to us in word and Spirit, in bread and cup.
Make us holy
and bring us to perfection,
when we stand before him
as he comes to judge the living and the dead,
Jesus Christ our Lord.

Christ's coming
J39

God our guide,
you have fed us with bread from heaven
as you fed your people Israel.
May we who have been spiritually nourished be ready to follow you all our days;
we ask this in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Incarnation
J40

We praise and thank you, creator God,
for you have not left us alone.
Every year we celebrate your coming as Emmanuel.
Every eucharist celebrates his death,
in the bread we break and the cup we share,
until that day when we shall see you face to face,
in Jesus Christ our Lord.

Cross
J41

Faithful God,
may we who share this banquet
glory in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, our salvation, life and hope,
who reigns as Lord now and for ever.

Resurrection
J42

Father, in baptism we die to sin, rise again to new life
and find our true place in your living body.
Send us out sealed in Christ's blood of the new covenant,
to bring healing and reconciliation to this wounded world,
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Word
J44

Lord God,
you feed us with the living bread from heaven;
renew our faith,
increase our hope,
and strengthen our love.
Teach us to hunger
for Christ who is the true and living bread, and to live by every word that comes from your mouth,
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

our Saviour Jesus Christ.

Living in the world
J50

Father of all,
we thank you that you have shared this feast of your kingdom with all peoples and have united all races in your Son Jesus Christ:
may the unity we have known here give us a joyful anticipation of the fullness of life to which you call us;
through Jesus Christ our Lord,
who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God for ever and ever.

Father of all, you gathered us here around the table of your Son;
we have shared this meal with the saints
and the whole fellowship of the household of God.
In that new world
where the fullness of your peace will be revealed, gather people of every race, language and way of life to share in the one eternal banquet of Jesus Christ the Lord.

Blessings

The triple 'solemn blessings' included here (with Amens between each section) need particular care to ensure that the congregation know when to respond with 'Amen'. Printing the full text for the congregation is one way of doing this. Another approach is to make sure that someone taking the deacon's role has the full text and is clearly visible to give a lead to the congregation.

If a form of dismissal is used it should follow the blessing.

Final acclamations

These may be used on their own to conclude the act of worship, or they may precede or follow a blessing. If one of these is used with a dismissal, the dismissal should come at the very end.

General
J113

The Lord God almighty is our Father:
he loves us and tenderly cares for us.
The Lord Jesus Christ is our Saviour:
he has redeemed us and will defend us to the end.
The Lord, the Holy Spirit, is among us:
he will lead us in God's holy way.
To God almighty, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, be praise and glory today and for ever.
Amen.

J117

To God the Father, who loved us, and made us accepted in the Beloved:
to God the Son, who loved us,
and loosed us from our sins by his own blood:
to God the Holy Spirit,
who spreads the love of God abroad in our hearts:
to the one true God be all love and all glory
for time and for eternity.
Amen.
